U. S. Aides Linked With Soviet Spies

WASHINGTON, March 11 (INS)—Rep. Rankin (D.) of Mississippi, ranking majority member of the Un-American Activities Committee, declared today that federal employes in the War and State Depts. are aiding foreign agents in efforts to secure atom bomb information.

Rankin identified the government departments in elaborating on his previous charge that "Communists agents are not only here as spies, but they are assisted by American Communists, many of whom are on the federal payroll."

The Mississippian declared that many of the suspected employes "are in the War Department, where atom bomb secrets are kept, and in the State Department, where they can get information on international affairs."

Rankin's remarks were made after a National Catholic Welfare Conference official charged that atomic bomb and other information is being fed Soviet Russia by some 2000 active Communist spies holding federal jobs.

The charge was made in an address by Rev. John F. Cronin, assistant director of the NCWC social action department.

He added that 130 of the 2000 held key posts from which they could influence government policy and the policy of the departments where they are employed.

Fr. Cronin said he was informed that secret documents in the State Department were being photographed daily and sent to Russia. He also named the Treasury and Budget Bureau as agencies whose work has been seriously affected by Communists.

Extending his anti-Soviet remarks, the NCWC official charged the Moscow government was carrying out a program of aggression along these lines: (1) Destruction of the British Empire, (2) overrunning Continental Europe, including France, "where Communism is already strong," and (3) invasion of South America.

Meanwhile, members of the Un-American Activities Committee declared that their group had supplied the War Dept. and the FBI with names of specific persons whom they had reason to believe were in position to impart atom bomb secrets to foreign agents.

Rankin lauded the War Dept. on its ruling to keep military personnel who lack loyalty to the government from working in "sensitive military positions."

Pravda Lashes Churchill Plan as Doom of UNO

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, March 11 (AP)—Pravda decl ared today a British-American military alliance, as proposed by Winston Churchill, woul d liquidate the United Nations, end the coalition of three big powers and bring a return to power politics.

Breaking the Russian editorial silence on Churchill's March 5 speech, the three-column front-page editorial asserted it had been a failure, adding:

"No false speeches about democracy and freedom by convinced reactionaries such as Churchill and his American friends from the Vandenberg camp will succeed in drawing people onto the road to new wars being prepared for them."

The Communist newspaper said Churchill had only succeeded in revealing himself as out of step with the times.

"One must unwillingly recall the Churchill of the period after World War I," Pravda said. Then, it said, he was the "initiator of an anti-Soviet campaign and principal organizer of armed intervention against the Soviet Union."

During the war, Pravda said, Churchill "pretended to be a friend of the Soviet people" but now that the danger was over he was revealing his "real feelings."

Pravda said by his proposal for creation of a British-American military alliance Churchill "frankly states that this military alliance must be directed against the U.S.S.R., against that power which bore on its shoulders the main burden of the struggle and played a decisive role in the defeat of Hitlerite Germany."

"But a military alliance of two participants of a coalition against a third signifies the liquidation of the coaltion of the three great powers formed during the course of the second world war.

"He openly proclaims politics which must be realized by an Anglo-American military alliance. To whom is it not clear that all of this, as a matter of fact, means nothing else than the liquidation of the United Nations Organization.

"So with another stroke he settles with an organization which he in his capacity of an ardent defender championed."

Rival Troops Race to Mukden

CHUNGKING, March 11 (AP)—Chinese Nationalist and Communist reinforcements today were reported moving to Mukden, where, the Central News Agency said, the rival forces were battling after sudden withdrawal of Soviet troops.

Chinese press dispatches said the Communists, heavily outnumbering Nationalists troops in the city, had occupied the power plant and northern district. Other reports said the central government had proclaimed martial law in the city, whose once-great industrial plants had been picked clean by the Russians.

The press reports declared that elements of four Nationalist armies were marching to Mukden and Communist reinforcements were moving in from the north.

The Central Daily News said the Nationalist 14th Division entered Mukden Saturday.

The suddenness of the Soviet withdrawal was blamed for the serious street fighting in Mukden. Dispatches said the Nationalists lacked sufficient troops to cope with the situation.

They said that for the past few days Soviet authorities in Manchuria, from Marshal Malinovsky, Soviet commander, to junior officers, had been inaccessible to Nationalist officials.

The Central News Agency did not interpret the withdrawal from Mukden as a general Russian evacuation of Manchuria. The agency declared that six trains from Mukden had unloaded troops, tanks, artillery and automobiles at Changchun, Manchuria capital.

Another report said Changchun was full of rumors that Soviet forces intended to quit the city.

In Chungking the Manchurian situation was discussed at a meeting presided over by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Pledge Fight For Housing Subsidies

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Senator Barkley (D.) of Kentucky said today the administration will fight to restore $600,000,000 in subsidies when housing legislation is considered by the Senate.

Barkley talked with reporters at the White House after Congressional leaders conferred with President Truman. The House rejected subsidies on building materials and another key feature of the President's housing program—ceiling prices on old dwellings.

The government was busy also rushing final touches on a new order designed to slash commercial and industrial construction so that more homes can be built.

Barkley made clear that Administration forces would attempt to revive all features of the original housing bill asked by Mr. Truman, but he said the major effort would be behind the subsidy payments.

With the Kentuckian at the White House were Speaker Rayburn, House Democratic Leader McCormack (Mass.) and Sen. McKellar (D.) of Tennessee, president pro tempore of the Senate.

The government's order on commercial type building was described by officials who have seen a preliminary draft as "drastic and far-reaching." It is scheduled for announcement soon.

They predicted it will hit hardest at proposed roadhouses, night clubs, theaters and other amusement projects. These will not be banned entirely, but builders will have to show there is a community need for such facilities.

The new order is being drawn up by the Civilian Production Administration and the National Housing Agency. They figure it will channel well over two-thirds of all building materials to residential construction.

"There's no alternative," said one official, "with the goal 2,700,000 new homes during the next two years."

There has been no decision yet to halt work on some commercial and industrial projects already under way.

CPA reportedly is opposing such a step because of the difficulty on where to draw the line and because it lacks an adequate field staff to enforce an order of that kind.

Housing officials estimate that upwards of $50,000,000 a week in labor and materials is being expended on non-residential building.

2 El Crashes Hurt 30, Shake Up 100

Six persons were taken to the hospital, more than a score suffered minor injuries and more than 100 others were shaken up today in two almost simultaneous crashes in the Boylston st. and Huntington ave. subways at the height of the morning rush hour. The six hospital cases were injured when a single car, inbound to Park st., crashed into the rear end of a two-car train standing in the Symphony station at Huntington ave.

The other crash occurred a few minutes earlier just outside the Boylston st. subway station when a switching car, bound for Braves Field, crashed into the middle of a Watertown-bound car, which was on the inside track.

Taken to City Hospital from the Symphony station crash were Kenneth Fallon, 31, Wigglesworth st., Roxbury, who suffered a possible fracture of the spine; Diana Filippone, 15, Minden st., Jamaica Plain, treated for facial cuts; Eleanor Chapman, 18, and her sister Lillian, 21, both of Heath st., Roxbury; Ruth Flynn, 17, Grotto Glen rd., Jamaica Plain, and Thomas McCall, 52, Perkins st., Jamaica Plain, all treated for shock and hysteria.

Two dozen others among the 177 passengers aboard the two trains claimed injury but said they would seek treatment from their own physicians. Many others were shaken up but declared they would not need medical treatment.

None of the 180 passengers aboard the two trains involved in the Boylston st. crash claimed injury at the scene, but police said many were shaken up.

Traffic on the Huntington ave. line was delayed more than 15 minutes, while it was an hour before normal service was restored on the Boylston st. line. Park. st. station, hub of the Elevated's inbound and outbound traffic, was jammed for an hour.

The Symphony station crash occurred when Motorman James P. O'Brien, Fowle st., Roslindale, brought his two-car Jamaica-Arborway train, inbound, to a stop inside the station to discharge and take on passengers.

A single car, Heath st.-Park st., operated by Patrick McGinnis, South st., Jamaica Plain, came down the incline leading to the station and crashed into the rear of the standing train. McGinnis told police his brakes failed to grab when he put them on at the signal outside the station.

There were 97 passengers aboard the two-car train and 80 more in the large-sized single car which crashed into it.

The other accidents occurred about 40 feet outside the north end of the Boylston st. station as the Braves Field car was switching from the outside to the inside southbound track.

The Watertown car, moving in the same direction on the inside track, was struck squarely in the middle with the impact derailing the car's rear truck.

The car tilted for a few moments and then settled back on its trucks and sparks set off by the collision caused many women passengers to scream.

At least 30 passengers were shaken up but all were able to leave the damaged cars and walk the short distance to the Boylston st. station.

John J. Sullivan, rapid transit superintendent, said blame for the accident would not be placed until an investigation was made by Dares D. Hall, superintendent of transportation.

The Watertown train was operated by Max Kligerman, Harvard ave., Allston, while the Braves Field car was being driven by Patrick Cahalane, Glencoe st., Brighton.

Forty-five buses were pressed into service to handle passengers on Boylston st. subway lines and several hundred persons crowded at Boylston and Tremont sts. to await bus transportation.

Inbound and outbound traffic also was re-routed on all the affected lines until normal service could be restored.

Quincy Worker Saves Girl, 4, in Quarry Pool

A 50-year-old Quincy shipyard worker today plunged into an abandoned quarry near his home to rescue 4-year-old Helen Ward of Filbert st., West Quincy, after she had battled to keep afloat for 10 minutes.

Henry Bertrand of Filbert st. was informed by his wife that his youngster, Peter, 3, and another child, Russell O'Brien, 4, reached home to stammer, "Helen's in the quarry."

Bertrand, just home from his night job, ran uphill through brush for 200 yards to the edge of Angelo's quarry. All that was visible of little Helen was a few strands of hair and bubbles.

Leaping to an underwater ledge, Bertrand reached the bobbing hair just as the child was about to sink in 50 feet of water. He was waist-deep at the edge of the ledge when he seized her.

Tossing the unconscious child over his shoulder, he squeezed her sides as he ran for his home. He reached there just as firemen, summoned by his wife, arrived with an inhalator. She was revived after a half hour and taken to Quincy City Hospital. There, doctors said she was suffering from shock and immersion but would recover.

Valley Flood Threat Eases

Despite snow flurries in Boston this afternoon, the weather man said fair weather will prevail tonight and Tuesday over Massachusetts, thus lessening the threat of flood along the Connecticut valley.

Early today it was feared the Connecticut was going on a rampage when a huge ice jam at Hatfield broke, sending a wall of ice packed waters rushing toward the Holyoke dam, already weakened by the flood.

Some lowland areas adjacent to the river were flooded, but engineers reported at Holyoke the river was at 7.7 feet and falling. There was no immediate damage to the dam at Holyoke, it was said.

Tomorrow is the 58th anniversary of the famous "blizzard of '88."

Hear Stirring Pleas for Ban On Vivisection

The charge that pet animals have been stolen for vivisection purposes and that "medical schools, if not encouraging the practice, have done nothing to stop it," was made before the legislative committee on legal affairs today by Sen. Edward C. Peirce of the Third Bristol District.

Peirce, with many others who packed Gardner Auditorium, appeared in support of House Bill 117, which would make vivisection a crime punishable by fines up to $500 or imprisonment for as much as a year, or both. The measure specifies as punishable any experimentation or operation except for healing the animal.

The proposed legislation is sponsored by the New England Anti-Vivisection Society, of which George Farnum is president.

Farnum declared that pet-stealing has always been a part of vivisection and added:

"Even now they are shipping stolen cats and dogs into Massachusetts from Pennsylvania, and one of our investigators who has seen them in their crates will testify later about some of the nefarious rackets that are part and parcel of vivisection.

"Vivisectionists say the ends justify the means. We say when cruelty is practiced the ends do not justify the means."

The issue is fundamentally a moral one, Farnum held. He added he believed the rank and file of doctors in Massachusetts deplore vivisection as it is practiced today.

Farnum read from the American Journal of Physiology an account of experiments at the Harvard Medical School. It described the removal of brains from living cats.

"There is an abundance of evidence that cruelties are practiced in the name of vivisection," he said. "Medical journals often print pictures which prove it—and shock decent people."

Sen. Peirce told the legislators:

"I cannot too strongly urge the passage of House Bill 117 to prohibit entirely the vivisection of of cats or dogs a crime punishable by fines up to $500 or imprisonment for as much as a year, or both. The measure specifies as punishable any experimentation or operation except for healing the animal.

"I will leave to the medical profession to say what it has hoped to accomplish and what it actually has achieved by this barbaric practice."

Peirce, a dog owner since childhood, did not elaborate his assertion that pets have been stolen for delivery to vivisectionists, but said he would have more to say on the general subject when the bill goes before the Senate. In conclusion he told the committee:

"When we read of cases or know of them from personal knowledge wherein dogs have gladly given their lives for their masters or others, I wonder how we can compromise on this question—even if the doctors do learn anything of value."

Rep. Joseph B. Harrington of Salem, who filed the measure, gave the committee 2200 hundred letters, most of them from children, received by the Boston Record-American in its, "Why I Love My Dog" contest.

One member of the legislative committee said he had received 5000 letters in connection with the anti-vivisection issue.

Among the legislators who recorded themselves in favor of the proposed legislation were Reps. Albert E. Roberts of Braintree, Walter F. Kane of Worcester, John D. Brown of Boston and Robert S. Connolly of Jamaica Plain.

Rep. Harrington took the expressed view that the burden of proof should rest with opponents of the bill. "It is up to them to convince the committee that vivisectionists could not learn from mice, rats, rabbits or guinea pigs what they learn from cats or dogs," he said.

The hearing drew antivivisectionists from many walks of life—professional men, housewives, civic leaders, legislators and many others, some the owners of thoroughbred pets, some the equally devoted protectors of affectionate mongrels, all unalterably opposed to the sacrifice of helpless animals on the surgeon's slab.

Lowell Man Dies, Seven In Hospital as House Burns

LOWELL, March 11—One man burned to death and seven others hospitalized from burns or smoke inhalation in a three-alarm fire that swept the block-long 3½-story rooming house on Bridge st. between French and Page sts. this morning.

Charles Within

Arthur N. Marcheldon, 53, was carried unconscious from his second-floor room. He was dead on arrival at St. John's Hospital.

Also at the hospital suffering from burns and smoke inhalation are: Albert Jarbeau, 27, Robert Davidson, 34, Arthur Blackburn, 63, Aine Alein, 54, Gerald Sylvain, 35, and Charles Within, 33.

At St. Elizabeth's Hospital is William Chascin, 23, suffering from burns and shock.

At least 60 other roomers were driven to the street and temporarily housed in the Keith Theater opposite the burned structure. Damage was estimated at $15,000 and officials said the blaze was caused by a careless disposal of a cigaret. Much of the damage was to the contents of three stores and a cafe on the ground floor.

Two taxi drivers discovered the blaze and gave the alarm. By the time firemen arrived on the scene flames were sweeping the second and third floors.

The building, one of the oldest in the city, is in the heart of the downtown section.

THE GRAND RUSH

CONGRESSMEN tell me that it is called the Rosenman technique. I do not quite know why. Looking at a photograph of the ubiquitous Sam the Rose in Miami, sunning himself in the leisure of the elite who govern us, I should not have imagined that rushing is his forte.

Yet, I am assured by members of Congress—Republicans, I must admit—that the device—like so many Presidential speeches—originated in his mind and that Roosevelt used it with the skill of a cormorant but Truman with the shamblings of the proverbial Missouri mule.

So many accusations and glorifications are hurled at our ruling class that no one can be sure, but I record this one for its historical value.

The technique may be written up as a work study as follows:

The Executive—that is, the Office of the President, all the advisers and Executive secretaries included—fill a basket with bills, acts, proposals, speeches, radio broadcasts and other ejaculations and throw them at the Congress, loading that body down so that everybody has too much work to do, hearings are inadequate and no one can study the subject thoroughly or even read the reports of the hearings.

Bills log up so that there is a squabble over the right of way.

The country shifts its angry glare from an alibi-manufacturing, error-making, one-foot-tripping-over-the-other Presidency to a Congress that is bogged down by Presidential messages, "musts," proddings, needling speeches concerning Congressional ineptitude.

And the nation continues to suffer from inflation and lack of productivity, both in no small measure due to the confusions created by this process.

THIS TECHNIQUE has been at work these many years. In fact, it operated so successfully that vaudevillians turned politicians, night club waiters turned philosophers, sports writers turned Aristotles, when they have nothing better to aggravate their intelligences, let out at the incompetence of Congress.

As long as Congress seems queer, no one quite notices the absurdities of the Executive.

That is one reason why the American people find themselves stuck with the Yalta secret agreements and why we suddenly discover that we have a ratified treaty granting UNO extraterritoriality in our country.

When these Republican legislators told me that Sam Rosenman was the author of this pixie, I would not believe them.

It is the sort of thing that a man with a thin and hungry look might cogitate and propound.

No rotund, round-faced personality, whose cherubic expression denotes an adoration of the higher gustative emotions, could have devised so vile yet workable a scheme.

NOW CONGRESS cannot pass legislation as speedily as the Presidential secretariat can write a message or a speech.

As one who once earned part of his living as a ghost for unintelligent great men, I am sure that some recent Presidential documents could have been turned out blindfolded in under an hour.

And no professional would have produced so poorly.

Yet, these articulations invoke legislation on economic and social problems of such historical magnitude as the wage and price structures, the relationship of profits to the total economy of the nation determining whether this country shall remain capitalistic or become socialistic by the remote and overlarded subterfuge of destroying private enterprise by taxation, the elimination of opportunity for small business, and production for use at a loss, together with government loans to new and unwarranted enterprises created to compete with existing and competently managed private enterprises.

These problems involve the most thorough study and analysis but they are dumped on Congress by an Executive who now goes about the country wailing that nobody passes the laws he asks for.

That, too, is part of what these legislators call the Rosenman technique. That man will go down in history if he really is all they say he is.

DUBLIN, March 11 (INS)—The body of John Cardinal Glennon, archbishop of St. Louis, was taken on the 50-mile journey this afternoon to Mullingar Cathedral, a few miles from where the American churchman was born.

Flags were at half-staff, and all traffic was suspended. The body will lie in state at Mullingar, where throngs will file past the bier.

Evicted Vet Here Asks Job, Home for Family

A medically discharged Navy veteran, who came to Boston seeking a home and job after he and his wife and two small children had been evicted from their home in Huntington, W. Va., appealed to the public today to help him find work and living quarters.

The veteran, Chester Howard, 24, and his wife, Yvonne, 19, a former Cambridge girl, are staying with their children, Russell, 20 months, and Gail, 9 months, at the home of a friend of the girl in Malden.

But quarters are cramped there and they don't want to impose on the hospitality of Mrs. Florence Gregoire, who took them into her home in Mountain ave., Malden, last night after they had spent all day yesterday in a vain search for living quarters.

The little family arrived here Saturday after a week-long auto trip from West Virginia, sleeping in tourist cabins and spending one night in their car when their machine broke down in a sparsely settled section.

The two small children both are suffering from colds and appeals to aid societies brought a promise a nurse would visit them at their temporary refuge in Malden later today.

Howard was discharged from the Navy last April and obtained an apartment in Huntington, W. Va., for his wife and son and started work as an insurance salesman. Their daughter was born there last June.

Howard's physical condition forced him to give up his job and the family was evicted by the landlord on the ground he wished to remodel their apartment.

After a futile search for another home in West Virginia, Yvonne suggested they drive here on the possibility the housing situation might not be so acute.

Arriving Saturday, they spent the day searching without success for a place to live and then spent the night in Lowell with a relative of the young wife. Sunday they renewed the hunt and then went to Malden for the night, sleeping with the two small children on a mattress on the floor.

400 Deaf to Taylor Apology, Ask Ouster

More than 400 Negroes heard Rep. John H. Taylor of Quincy publicly apologize in the House of Representatives today for an alleged slur against their race, and then adjourned to near-by Gardner auditorium, with a demand that he be impeached.

Taylor declared his statement that a bill "was a plan to whitewash the nigger" had been misunderstood and he was roundly applauded by the membership after his apology.

The matter did not end here, however, for the gallery group, led by the Rev. Kenneth Hughes of Cambridge, went to the auditorium.

Speaker Frederick Willis then took his legislature rules comittee to meet the group and heard the impeachment demand. It was voiced by the Rev. Mr. Hughes, who said he was president of the local unit of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"This slur is a deliberate and calculated insult and must not be allowed to go unpunished," Hughes said. "Rep. Taylor should be impeached." Other members of the group asked to speak but Speaker Willis said the committee was very busy.

Taylor's apology was as follows:

"I made a statement to which some good people have taken strong objection. I sincerely regret this and wish you to know that at no time was a slur intended. If this statement of mine has caused discomfort to members of the House, or has seemed to cast reflection on the tolerant action of this legislative body, I am deeply regretful. I never had any ill will for any Negro or for any member of any race, color or creed.

"I make this statement to correct any misunderstanding that may exist."

Other developments in the controversy today were:

1—The legislative education committee reported favorably on the bill with Taylor recorded in favor.

2—The State CIO asked the Legislature to "appropriately censure the Representative from Quincy" and predicted the voters would unseat him at the next election.

3—City Councilor Milton Cook of Roxbury introduced an order in the Boston city council condemning Taylor's outburst. The order was referred to the committee on rules.

4—The Rev. Emory Buck, editor of the Zion Herald, conferred with Speaker Frederick Willis and asked that Taylor be made to address the House and give reasons he should continue as a member.

Strikers and GE In Picket Parley

Striking General Electric workers in Lynn today refused to allow non-productive employes to cross picket lines until the management and union decide on the number of such workers should enter the plants.

Management representatives are meeting today to draw a list of engineers, firemen and other non-productive employes they wish to have cross picket lines. The list will then be presented to Local 201 for approval.

In Pittsfield a similar move was made and 1800 supervisory and non-productive employes were allowed to cross picket lines today. At the same time it was announced the striking Pittsfeld GE employes will go back to work as soon as negotiators agree on wages, without waiting settlement of other issues.

Triangle Murder Teacher Freed

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 11 (AP)—Murder charges against Mrs. Gwendolyn Wallis were dismissed today by Superior Judge Stanley Mussell, four days after he discharged a deadlocked jury trying her for the slaying of Mrs. Ruby Clark.

Dismissal was asked by the district attorney who told the court he felt another trial "would end the same way." The jury reported, 10 to 2 for acquittal.

Mrs. Wallis, 31, had testified a gun in her hand went off twice accidentally when she found her husband, Don, sitting in a parked car the night of Dec. 27 with Mrs. Clark, 26, former Fayetteville, Ark., school teacher.

Mad Pianist Takes Third Step on Road to Health

DETROIT, March 11 (AP)—Maestro X, Wayne County General Hospital's pianist who performed last night over a national radio hookup, today was believed a little further on the road back to mental health. Dr. Ira Altshuler, psychiatrist at the hospital, announced he was encouraged by the rendition of the cadenza from Mozart's Concerto in D Minor given by his charge, a 45-year-old musician, once said to have been well-known who was committed to the hospital nearly ten years ago.

Three recent events have done a lot toward bringing him out of his mental illness, according to the doctor, who describes the malady as a form of negativism.

Two weeks ago he played for a convention of music teachers in Detroit, receiving acclaim that included the word "genius." Last week he attended a concert of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and for a time left off the low muttering that has been a constant part of his illness, the doctor said.

The broadcast last night was the third step, Dr. Alexander declared. His patient played for two and one-half minutes over the air, and later went on to entertain 100 persons gathered at the hospital with Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata."

The maestro seemed as unaware of his audience as he has on former occasions. He turned to acknowledge applause without a smile or bow, and showed no sign of emotion or recognition even when his 70-year-old mother came up to greet him after the performance.

This Blaze Snarls Firemen

CHICAGO, March 11 (AP)—The firemen named him Blaze and put him out.

A mongrel, Blaze wandered into engine house 51 a week ago. Fairly successful at mending a few of his milder bad habits—like chewing up the fire hose—the firemen had hopes for him until yesterday.

An alarm roused the men from their second floor bunks. As the last man slid down the brass pole, Blaze plunged after him, breaking his fall on fireman William Newton's head. Then the dog took up a stand in front of the thundering trucks, delaying their departure.

Blaze has been given to neighbor children. They promise to keep him away from Engine House 51.

Hub Arrest Breaks Gem Theft Ring

NEW YORK, March 11 (INS)—A handsomely groomed woman and two mild-mannered men, charged with sneak thefts of gems worth $100,000, were revealed today as the brains of a ring which looted jewel merchants of more than $1,500,000 in 30 months.

A fourth member of the gang—who displayed amazing ability to palm set pieces and uncut stones under the eyes of salesmen—was discovered in the federal prison at Lexington, Ky., for an enforced drug cure. New York police filed a detaining warrant against him with U. S. authorities.

A locksmith and a group of fences are being hunted.

The prisoners now in the New York tombs are Ruth Rosenthal, 42, of New York, mother of a 10-year-old boy; Ira Fox, 57, Brooklyn antique dealer, and Harry Levy, 52, Jamaica Estates luggage salesman.

Police said they had confessed.

Ruth Rosenthal was arrested in Boston last Wednesday when a retired police captain employed by the jewelry store allegedly saw her slip a $1900 necklace into her purse.

Police say she has a record of 14 previous arrests. New York police and detectives assigned to the Jewelers' Protective Alliance worked at the task almost two years. Within 24 hours after the Rosenthal woman was returned to New York they had fitted every piece of the crime puzzle into place, effected the arrest of Fox and Levy, and thrown out a net for the fugitive members of the gang.

So skillful were the operators that Cartier's, one of New York's largest stores, was mulcted nine times. Jewelers from New York to Chicago and from Miami to Boston were victimized.

They would send the salesman for gems not on display and, while he was gone, would make an impression of a jewel case key on a wax finger, police declared.

Cambridge Firemen Save Dog From Pond

The combined efforts of five Cambridge firemen were needed today to rescue a large Newfoundland dog which broke through the thin ice on Fresh Pond. Firemen, using ladders crawled out on the ice and, after maneuvering about an hour, dragged the dog to safety.

Hunt for Peabody Elopers Centered in Boston Area

Seach for two young Peabody sisters who eloped to Maine and wed two Peabody brothers, who police said were already married, was centered today in the Greater Boston area, where the two couples were believed to be in hiding after running short of funds.

The four sought are Alma T. Hazel, 19, who married Raymond J. Cooke, 23, and her sister, Leona M., 17, who married Chester E. Cooke, 28, father of five children, in a double wedding ceremony in the Wells, Me., town hall Feb. 20.

Peabody police said the girls' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy C. Hazel of Outlook ave., received a telegram sent by the girls from Lawrence Feb. 21, but no mention was made of the weddings.

Warrants charging the two Cooke brothers with abduction, and the sisters with being stubborn children, have been issued to the Peabody police.

It was disclosed that waivers of the five-day law were granted the couples by Judge Edward Pitcomb of the Municipal Court at Sanford, Me. Waivers of the blood test law were granted them by Judge Arthur Sewell at York, Me. The double ring ceremony was performed at Wells by Justice of the Peace Alma T. Parker.

Police said the waivers were granted after the two men told the judges that they had just been discharged from the Army and wanted to be married as soon as possible.

Officer Warns GIs in Reich Not to Rap Reds

WUERZBURG, Germany, March 11 (AP)—American troops in Wuerzburg were warned by their commanding officer today to refrain from criticizing the Soviet Union to the German people, Lt. Col. Frank Ebey of Venice, Cal., issued this order to the 203rd Antiaircraft Battalion:

"It has been brought to my attention the morale of the civilian population of Wuerzburg has been raised as the result of a speech in the United States by a British politician, relative to our ally, the Russian people.

"I have heard certain military personnel agree with these policies in the presence of German fraulein.

"This practice must stop immediately.

"The Soviet government is an ally of the U. S. A. and you are individually and collectively responsible representatives of our government. I will not tolerate any disparaging remarks against our allies to the German people. This does not violate your right of free speech among yourselves.

"I do not hate the German people. My policy in regard to dancing and social gatherings should indicate that, but I can't forget the sun will always set upon the grave of some American soldier. From Pearl Harbor and Bataan to the Elbe, your buddies died because of the Nazi party and the evil machinations of Hitler and his gang. Don't let your fraulein's opinion influence you. She has been raised in an atmosphere of hatred and intolerance of all except the "master race" we have just whipped.

"Millions of Russian soldiers and civilians died to save us. If propaganda causes you to hate the Russians, stop and think—they died for you, too. If you want to fight again, encouraging these fraulein to think we hate Russia is a good way to get things going.

"I am not a Pinko or a Red. But the Russians are our allies. They have guts and, by God, I never want to fight again! Think it over. You have been warned."

Curley Before Legislature for 10 Million Loan

Mayor Curley made a personal plea to the legislative committee on municipal finance today for approval of his proposal to borrow $10,000,000 for current expenses in order to reduce the 1946 tax rate from $42.50 to $37.

Speaking before a crowded hearing room, the mayor declared he already had reduced budget estimates of department heads by one-half but that the budget still was $5,000,000 above 1945 expenditures, the increase being due to the need of purchasing vital material and equipment for the fire and public works departments and for institutions and hospitals.

He said although no vacancies would be filled and that other economies would be practiced this year, the city still would be forced to raise its tax rate to $45 or more unless the loan was permitted.

Questioned by committee members, Curley said he did not approve borrowing for current expenses under ordinary circumstances and added:

"But these are not ordinary circumstances. During the war years we were unable to obtain equipment and material which must be provided this year. The Legislature has liberalized veteran legislation and welfare assistance and that adds to the cost of running the city.

"If we don't get the $10,000,000, what alternative have we? A one or two-cent sales tax would be unfair in one city. I don't suppose you gentlemen would advocate a general sales tax in an election year.

"The legislature would not approve a 1 per cent occupational tax. Borrowing is the only way possible to cut the tax rate this year to attract new industries here and keep the ones we have.

"New developments totaling between $125,000,000 and $150,000,000 will be constructed this year in Boston, but we won't get the benefit of their additional revenue until next year."

City Auditor Rupert Carven said the future of both Boston and the State depended on the city's obtaining immediate financial relief.

"Let Boston collapse and the State will collapse," he warned.

Committee members objected when City Budget Commr. Fox estimate dthe city would pay 2 to 2½ per cent interest on a $10,000,000 loan, paying it back at the rate of $1,000,000 a year.

Theodore N. Waddell, director of accounts, informed the committee that last week he had approved a 15-year loan at less than 1 per cent.

"Boston will be very glad to get the money at an interest rate lower than we had anticipated," Curley interposed.

Probe of Red Magazine's U. S. Theft Urged in House

By RAY RICHARDS
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, March 11—Demand will resound on the floor of the House this week for a congressional investigation of the notorious case of Amerasia, pro-Russian magazine of New York city. The investigation would center on the reasons why the State and Justice Departments stifled prosecution of one of the worst spy offenses in U. S. history. The debate is due to reveal how British intelligence officers brought to light the fact that Amerasia was in possession of critical diplomatic and war secrets stolen from the State and Navy Departments.

It will include a recountal of secret raids in the spring of 1945 on the propaganda publication's editorial offices and photostat plant at 225 Fifth ave. by agents of the Office of Strategic Services and the FBI, and of the finding of 15,000 documents containing confidential information.

Six of these documents were top secret naval war plans, including the schedule and pattern of bombing which later brought Japan to her knees, the disposition of Japanese fleet units and the disposition of Chinese troops.

All had been stolen by Amerasia employes dealing with Communist agents in the government.

The outbreak of speeches this week for the passage of a resolution ordering the investigation by the House judiciary committee will be another explosion in the Congressional demand that the Russian espionage system be rooted out of the United States.

Proponents of the resolution have been supplied with complete information of events leading to the detection and FBI arrest of a U. S. Navy lieutenant, two State Department employes and three members of the staff of Amerasia, how two were fined lightly and the rest dismissed, and how one of the sextet, John Service, actually was lauded later by the State Department and sent to Gen. MacArthur as an adviser.

It will be charged on the floor that the administration dealt so lightly with the case in order to keep, as an election asset, the favor of the country's "liberal," Communist and pro-Russian element.

Within three minutes after it had heard an unpublicized secret service witness in a closed session last Friday, the House rules committee decreed that the resolution for the investigation could be called up for House action out of the regular order of business and at any time.

The witness told the full gravity of the Amerasia case and its significance in connection with Russia's recently detected attempts to steal atomic bomb secrets in Canada and the unquestionable Russian spy activities to the same end now under way in the United States.

Bowles Says Prices Won't Interfere With Production

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Stabilization Director Bowles said today he is determined prices will not be allowed to interfere with production.

He told a news conference he believes reports prices controls have slowed the flow of goods are "fallacious," but he added OPA and the Office of Economic Stabilization intend to "investigate every squawk we receive on this matter and to grant relief wherever it is justified."

Bowles said also that:

The new wage-price policy can "definitely stand" for the duration of stabilization control.

Coal wage and price negotiations can be handled under the formula because we can't make "Any exceptions for anybody."

The policy will not increase the general level of prices, although there will be some retail increases.

The recent price increases for clothing actually may cut garment prices in general by putting a bigger supply of inexpensive clothing on the market.

Churchill Calls on Truman; Won't Talk

WASHINGTON, March 11 (INS)—Winston Churchill waved his cigar and twinkled "no comment" today after a 15-minute White House call on President Truman.

He was in good humor as he left the executive offices and amid the laughter that greeted his "no comment" remark he added:

"I'm good at that, you know."

Warrant for Riot Leader

A warrant, charging John Compano, 24, Minot st., West End, with creating a disturbance in a penal institution, was obtained today in East Boston district court by Maj. George F. A. Mulcahy, Deer Island master, as an aftermath of last week's attempted riot there.

Compano, serving a 2½-year term at the Island, will be given a hearing Thursday and Mulcahy said no action was planned as yet in the cases of five other alleged ringleaders in the disturbance, which was nipped in the bud Friday.

Meanwhile the State's parole board, whose abolition is expected to be recommended to Gov. Tobin by Lewis E. Lawes in his report on an investigation of prison and parole conditions, came in for further criticism today at a legislative hearing.

Red Cross 'Donut' Girls Seek Friends

The same three girls who served coffee and doughnuts to American soldiers from Normandy to Berlin manned their Red Cross clubmobile "Rocky Mountain" when it was placed on display in Boston Common opposite West st. today to demonstrate Red Cross overseas service.

The girls, Elizabeth Gross of Minnesota, Martha Stengel of Newtown, Pa., and Elizabeth Woodell of Greenbank, W. Va., are anxious to renew acquaintance with any local soldiers they met in Europe.

The big covered vehicle will remain on the Common until Wednesday, then will tour Greater Boston communities through Saturday. It bears the insignia of many American combat divisions.

Although the next audited report on contributions is still three days away, Chairman Francis W. Hatch estimated unofficially today that total contributions are now in excess of 60 per cent following reports that the 30,000 volunteer workers had a successful week-end.

Latest to support the drive was the Trainmen's Ass'n of the Boston and Maine Railroad, which voted a unanimous endorsement of the Red Cross at their regular meeting. Their action followed an address by S-Sgt. Hollister Kent, a ski trooper wounded in Italy.

MacArthur Hears Wife of Homma

TOKYO, March 11 (INS)—Gen. MacArthur today promised the "gravest consideration" to the wife of Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma in her personal visit plea for clemency for the so-called "beast of Bataan," under death sentence for war crimes.

MacArthur told Mrs. Homma he had "the greatest possible sympathy for her and understood the great sorrow of her situation," and said her appeal deeply illustrated the "utter evil of war and the dreadful consequences upon those who, like her, had little or no voice in it."

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—It costs New York city 6.736 cents to provide 5-cent rides on its municipally operated system of subways, elevated lines, streetcars and buses, a board of transportation report showed today.

Operating costs have risen 40 per cent since 1940. The system carried 2,440,819,759 passengers last year.

A—National Service life insurance may be converted from the term plan to 1, 20-payment life, 30-payment life or ordinary life policy at the age and date of the original policy, or at any intermediate date, or at the attained age. U. S. Won't Join France on Spain

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Government officials said today the United States has declined to join France in presenting the Allied case against Spain's Franco government to the United Nations Security Council.

These officials said this country's views were delivered to the French government Saturday Essentially they are:

That the U. S. acknowledges the right of France or any other member of the United Nations to lay a matter before the security council at any time, but . . .

This government believes the Franco regime—whatever else it may be—is not a threat to international peace; hence, the U. S. will not join in bringing the Spanish situation before the council.

Britain also has declined to join with France in the action. Russia has accepted the French proposal.

MIGRAINE HEADACHES CAN BE CURED with SUPER OXYGEN and NEGATIVE IONS

Every patient who has taken this treatment has been cured!

Doctors of the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., say this about the benefits of Oxygen and heat for migraine headaches: "Patients with that combination of headache and nausea which commonly is classified as migraine, have been greatly benefited, especially those who suffered from the type of migraine which is associated with prodromal symptoms; if 100% Oxygen can be given during the prodromal period, the attack of migraine may be aborted."

Treatments are pleasant to take, moderately priced, and administered under a doctor's direction.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I was discharged from the Army last October. In November I went to work and after two months quit my job. Am I entitled to collect the $20 a week offered by the government? J. S. C., Lawrence.

A—An individual now unemployed, but available for and capable of employment, may be eligible for unemployment compensation benefits.

Q—My husband was discharged on the first day of this month. Will I get my family allotment for the month? W. M. O., Vermont.

A—You should receive a check covering the month in which he was discharged.

Q—Is it necessary to accompany the conversion of National Service Life Insurance with a lump sum to compensate for the difference in premiums over the period for which the policy has been in force? W. H.

A—National Service life insurance may be converted from the term plan to 20-payment life, 30-payment life or ordinary life policy at the age and date of the original policy, or at any intermediate date, or at the attained age. The charge would represent the difference in reserves. This charge could be reduced or paid by the loan value in the proposed plan; any balance due must be settled at the time of conversion.

Q—Can a mother who lost her son in World War II get anything from the government now, if she never got anything before, and is in need now? X. Y. Z., New Bedford.

A—Suggest you contact the Veterans Administration, 17 Court st., Boston, or the Veterans Administration office nearest your home, and file application for pension. Eligible for $35 monthly.

Q—My fiance has 50 points, is an Army officer. He has been in the service for two years, eight months, now stationed in New Guinea. When will he be eligible to come home? A. K., Boston.

A—Male officers (except regular Army, volunteers and Medical Department officers) with 65 points as of Sept. 2, 1945, or with 42 months' service as of June 30, 1946, will be separated from the Army or aboard ship returning home by June 30, 1946. Further instructions on separation will be issued by the War Dept. in the future.

Q—Is a soldier with a blue discharge entitled to the State Bonus in Massachusetts? A. H., Lawrence.

A—Yes. Apply at 15 Ashburton pl., Boston, with your original discharge certificate.

Q—My son in the service has $7.50 a month taken from his pay. I have not received a bond since Nov. 2, which was for the month of October. Where will I write for information regarding the bonds? Chester Depot.

A—Write to the Army War Bond Office, Building 204, Central Field Fiscal Office, 4300 Goodfellow Blvd., St. Louis 20, Mo., supplying all pertinent data, such as name, serial number, dates, etc.

Q—Can a soldier discharged overseas re-enlist without his wife's consent? T. H. E., Springfield.

A—A soldier may re-enlist without anyone's consent.

Q—A sailor friend of mine gave me a 30m. carbine which he bought from a soldier. I have been told I have no right to keep it. Is this correct?

A—Unless you can produce a government receipt for the purchase, you should turn it in at the nearest Army post.

U. S. Won't Join France on Spain

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Government officials said today the United States has declined to join France in presenting the Allied case against Spain's Franco government to the United Nations Security Council.

These officials said this country's views were delivered to the French government Saturday Essentially they are:

That the U. S. acknowledges the right of France or any other member of the United Nations to lay a matter before the security council at any time, but . . .

This government believes the Franco regime—whatever else it may be—is not a threat to international peace; hence, the U. S. will not join in bringing the Spanish situation before the council.

Britain also has declined to join with France in the action. Russia has accepted the French proposal.

Asks Name Change, Burial With 1st Mate

Another New Magazine!

TODAY, for the first time, SALUTE Magazine makes its appearance on your newsstand. It's a new magazine — yet to 10 million ex-GIs and their families, it will seem like an old friend. They will recognize the spirit and the style, the writers and artists that endeared YANK and STARS AND STRIPES to the men who fought the war. SALUTE is a magazine for everyone — for veterans, their families and friends. It is produced by the former editors and writers of YANK and STARS AND STRIPES and gives the general public, at last, an opportunity to read the kind of features — satire, fiction and humor — that made these publications so overwhelmingly popular with the armed forces everywhere.

We think there's room — and what is more important, there's a need — for this new, different kind of magazine! We honestly believe you're going to like it. We believe that you will find it inspiring, exciting, stimulating, entertaining, relaxing. If we're right, you have an unusual reading thrill in store for you every month. Buy a copy at your newsstand and judge for yourself!

Scores Of Features In This Issue Including:
HOW TO TREAT YOUR OLD OFFICERS By ex-Sergeant Ralph Stein
WHAT THE ARMY HAS DONE TO LOUIS AND CONN By Jimmy Cannon
WHAT I THINK OF THE ARMY By Irwin Shaw
ABOUT THAT BONUS (Should the Vet get one?) By Max Novack
BREAD AND BUTTER FRONT A searching analysis of the labor unions and the veterans by DeWitt Gilpin

MIGRAINE HEADACHES CAN BE CURED with SUPER OXYGEN and NEGATIVE IONS

Every patient who has taken this treatment has been cured!

Doctors of the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., say this about the benefits of Oxygen and heat for migraine headaches: "Patients with that combination of headache and nausea which commonly is classified as migraine, have been greatly benefited, especially those who suffered from the type of migraine which is associated with prodromal symptoms; if 100% Oxygen can be given during the prodromal period, the attack of migraine may be aborted."

Treatments are pleasant to take, moderately priced, and administered under a doctor's direction.

Goering's Wife Says Hitler Ordered God-Child's Death

By PEGGY POORE

NUERNBERG, March 11 (INS)—Frau Emmy Goering revealed today that Adolf Hitler was reduced to a shaken, mentally ill wreck over a month before the July 20, 1944, bomb plot against his life.

In the smiple fortress cottage where she awaits the outcome of Hermann Goering's trial, when the Fuehrer attended a birthday party given for Goering's daughter Edda, who was Hitler's goddaughter, in early June, 1944, one arm shook so badly he was forced to hold it still by grasping it with his other hand.

Frau Emmy said mental decay made Hitler easy prey for Martin Bormann, whom she described as the "Hasputin" of the Third Reich. She also said that on April 22, 1945, Hitler suffered a complete mental breakdown and quoted Luftwaffe Gen. Koehler—who was with Hitler to the end, as describing the last days of Hitler, in which the latter admitted the war was lost for Germany.

Frau Goering said Gen. Koehler brought Goering orders from Hitler to take over power, but that Hitler ordered execution of the entire Goering family the moment Berlin fell.

"He sentenced to death my little Edda—his own god-daughter whom he loved and spoiled," Frau Goering said.

Convinced that Hitler killed himself in the bunker under the Berlin chancellery, Frau Emmy never met Eva Braun, Hitler's mistress and allegedly his wife.

She said that at one time Eva was invited to a function at their home. Hitler called Goering into conference, and told him to take Eva's name off the guest list.

'Spot' Is Tops

Mrs. Julia M. Lanagan With Her Pet, Spot

International News Photo

Children aren't the only ones that get a real lift in life through pets. This is illustrated in the story of Julia M. Lanagan of 324 Washington st., Lynn, who tells what "Spot" has meant to her and her ex-serviceman husband.

This is Mrs. Lanagan's story, the winner in today's $5 prize-winning Boston Record-American contest, "Why I Love My Dog."

"Spot is a brown and white Fox Terrier, beautifully marked although neither his tail or ears have been trimmed as I understand sometimes is done.

"About 18 months ago, due to an accident, my left hand became crippled and I was on the way to becoming a morbid, nagging woman. By chance I heard a man telling about a puppy he was carrying. He was worried because his wife had refused to let him keep it.

"After a little hesitation, as we live in furnished rooms, and my husband has just returned from a veterans' hospital, I asked for and got the puppy. Words can't express what Spot has come to mean to me and my husband. He is the pet of the house and the pal of the neighborhood. He has made me lose self-consciousness about my injury and has taken the place of the work I had to give up. Sometimes I think he saved my sanity. I know he saved the happiness of our home."

GOOD CHOICE

PRESIDENT TRUMAN recently announced the appointment of Mr. O. Max Gardner as Under-Secretary of the Treasury, to the great satisfaction of Congress and to the very great advantage of the American people.

Mr. Gardner, a former Governor of North Carolina and who was chairman of the Advisory Board on War Mobilization and Reconversion, has exceptional and unique qualifications for the responsible post the President has given him.

It is his political and economic viewpoint—his philosophical and moral viewpoint, in fact—which makes him unique in the Administration to which he is not a stranger, only his present task being new.

The moral viewpoint of Mr. Gardner, as that of any public official, is of intimate interest to the country.

When he became Governor of North Carolina during the worst depression years, he had an idea which was novel at the time and which later became almost entirely extinct in the era of New Deal pump-priming.

His idea was that the people of his State, being burdened by excessive government taxes and expenditures at a time of stringent conditions in their private affairs, would be very well served by their government if it should REDUCE both taxes and expenditures—and he DID reduce them, and in consequence the State of North Carolina lived within its means and avoided the accumulation of further debt.

Since this is STILL his idea of the proper function and sacred obligation of good government, it is a hopeful and exhilarating prospect for the American people to have him established in a key financial post of the national government.

It would surely be a concept of governmental finances the American people have hoped for and despaired of for a very long time—the whole period of the New Deal, in fact—if the novel idea of having government live within its means and avoid further debt should be practiced on a national scale.

It is further recalled of Mr. Gardner that when he retired as Governor of his State in 1933 and established a private law practice in Washington, his first act was to resign as Democratic National Committeeman and to divest himself of all official political connections.

President Roosevelt, plagued and embarrassed at that time with a veritable horde of political office-holders cashing in on their titles for personal advantage, said gratefully of Mr. Gardner:

"It is good to have friends who are so actuated by high principle."

Mr. Roosevelt had too FEW such friends and associates then, and throughout his years of administration.

President Truman is fortunate in having, and wise in utilizing, a friend and associate of such high principle now.

ADMIT VETERANS

GOVERNOR DEWEY of New York has called on the colleges and universities of that State to admit more service men, even if they are obliged to hold two sessions a day or make other revolutionary changes in their schedules.

This is emphatically NOT the time, he points out, for "business as usual."

The nation promised its defenders extraordinary educational opportunities when its life was in danger.

Mr. Dewey wants these promises fulfilled.

Somebody should make a similar appeal to our New England colleges and universities, some of which are turning away war veterans by the hundreds.

No school is filled in this emergency as long as it has a chapel, auditorium or corridor which can be converted into a classroom.

Moreover, if a school cannot serve the service men during the day let it stay open all night.

As the recipient of tax exemptions and other favors from the public, every college owes a big debt to the service men and their families, and it does not matter how richly endowed or independently wealthy the college happens to be.

Ah me, the day you left me
Was full of weary hours
But the tree 'neath which we parted
Was rich with leaves and flowers.
And from its fragrant branches
I plucked a tiny spray
And hid it in my bosom
In memory of that day.
I know the endless distance
Must shut you from my view
But the flower's gentle fragrance
Brings sweetest thoughts of you.

OBSERVED Ernest Thompson Seton: "The American Indian doesn't need any psychiatrist. He knows how to live in harmony with nature, himself and other people. If something goes wrong, he chants or sings; that sets his vibrations right." (Note: Call this to the attention of your wife. When something happens to interfere with the smooth progress of her domestic duties, advise the little lady not to become irritated or angry. Suggest she sing or chant and set her vibrations right. It also might be a good idea to have a chanters corner at Belmont Park and other race tracks. In such a place, the patrons who have just lost wagers by a photo finish could gather to chant and get their vibrations in order so they could pick the winner of the next race.)

BEST IN SHOW: An English Springer spaniel won the best of show at the Golden Gate Kennels show in San Francisco. There were 100 Cocker Spaniels on exhibition. It was a glorious victory. Evidently the Springers are once more coming into their own. The prizewinner discussed is a liver and white springer. Next to a black and white one, that is the best kind of Springer there is.

PLANNED BABY: A Californian says her husband wants a planned baby born under Aquarius (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) because of his great admiration for many men born under that sign. She says as her "wonderful" husband was born Oct. 11 she would like to have a planned baby born under Libra, and asked: "Who were some celebrated and successful Librans?". If the Libra-planned baby is a boy he may have a chance to be President, which so far has had three Chief Executives born under that sign—Arthur, Taylor and Hayes. If a girl she may become a First Lady like Libra-Born Eleanor Roosevelt. Or maybe a successful actress like such brilliant and glamorous Libra females as Sarah Bernhardt, Eleanor Duse, Helen Hayes, Greer Garson, Janet Gaynor, Constance Bennett and Miriam Hopkins.

ASIDES: It was Jack West, Mae's father, who brought the famous vaudeville team of Van & Schenck together. Gus Van was looking for a piano player and West recommended Joe Schenck. It all happened in Brooklyn . . . All the advertising literature of San Francisco's Hotel Roosevelt carries a picture of Theodore Roosevelt, so there will be no misunderstanding as to the President the hotel is named after.

RECORD: A Lyndhurst, N. J., woman recently ironed 28 shirts in a day, taking about 15 minutes for each shirt. The ironing was done for the industrious ironer's husband and her three sons, all of whom are reported to be very fussy about their shirts. My informant is the daughter of the ironer and says proudly: "Isn't that a wonderful record for a day's ironing? Mother didn't mind it. She loves doing things for people she loves."

STREET NAMES: As for streets named after Major League ballplayers the Borough of Bronx, New York, has Lou Gehrig place and Hubbell place. In Chicago, there is an Anson place named after the immortal "Pop" Anson. Pittsburgh has a Wagner street but there are no streets, avenues, boulevards or places in Detroit named after Ty Cobb. Nor for Zach Wheat in Brooklyn.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE TESTIMONY taken by the Treasury in the stock of the late President Roosevelt in settlement of transaction obligations of his son, Elliott, was a huge bundle of photostats as released by the Democratic majority of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Westbrook Pegler

Few copies were given to the press.

As a stickler for truth in history's opinion of political giants, I have recently been examining the statements of Mrs. Ruth G. Eidson, the former wife of Elliott, given to the Treasury on two dates, Sept. 10 and Sept. 14, 1945.

The first statement was made in Denver, the other in Fort Worth, which is Mrs. Eidson's home.

It was explained that at the time she made her first statement, in Denver, Mrs. Eidson did not have her records with her and that, in consultation with her lawyer, after her return to Fort Worth, she decided to amplify some of her answers.

The discrepancies and lapses of memory here revealed will have to explain themselves.

It may be recalled that President Roosevelt, himself, sent Mrs. Eidson, then still Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, certain notes and shares of radio stock that had been obtained from John Hartford and David G. Baird, both of New York, on representations that Elliott was broke and that the collateral was worthless.

If the collateral really was worthless there was no reason why the President should have wanted it.

In the end, he transmitted the stock to Ruth Roosevelt for the purpose of defraying Elliott's alimony and his continuing obligation to support their children.

JESSE JONES, acting for the President, had obtained 2000 shares from Hartford for $4000 and 500 shares from Baird for $500. Elliott's debt to Hartford was $200,000. His debt to Baird was $40,000.

The Treasury asked Ruth Roosevelt, in Denver:

"Who did you get the stock from; Jesse Jones?"

"I think it must have been given to Elliott," she replied. "I really don't know."

"But you did get the stock eventually?"

"I think so."

Again, Mrs. Roosevelt said she didn't know, or recall, where the stock was sent.

"It may have been sent to me or Mr. Hanger (Elliott's lawyer) or it may have been sent to Elliott," she said.

The stock was now worth $250,000.

AT THIS POINT, we turn for a moment to Elliott's own testimony in which he said: "In January, 1944, Ruth G. Roosevelt decided that she would carry out divorce proceedings, and wrote the President asking if the stock certificates were available and she wanted them in Texas."

He also said he had inquired about the stock at the White House but "through some mistake or mixup" it was impossible to find it.

Proceeding in the Fort Worth inquiry, the Treasury presented a large manila envelope addressed to Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, post-marked "Registered; Return Receipt Requested," and bearing in the upper left corner in typewriting the name "G. G. Tully." It was a White House envelope.

Mrs. Roosevelt now recalled that she received this envelope about Nov. 12, 1943, and she further remembered that it contained another, marked "The President," which in turn contained a third white envelope, also marked "The President."

In the white envelope there was a letter from the President to "Dear Ruth," dated Nov. 9, 1943, forwarding 2500 shares of Texas State Network and the notes Elliott had given David Baird.

Hartford's notes for $200,000 had been destroyed in the presence of Jesse Jones.

The letter explained the transaction and conveyed a suggestion that she and Elliott "should make every effort to reimburse Mr. Jones."

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 11—And still the actors come marching home! The latest to park his major's cap is Melvyn Douglas, back from over three years in the service and the China-India-Burma theater.

Well, Douglas is back in the Columbia studio "theater" and his first will be "Rio," a musical, with Evelyn Keyes and Ann Miller to make love to. Whatever difficulties Ann may have been having with her bridegroom, Reese Milner, over her career, are apparently ironed out. It was the same sort of thing that brought Melvyn Douglas on the flareup between Betty Hutton and Ted Briskin.

Getting back to "Rio," it's to be one of Columbia's biggest for 1946, and I must say when this studio concentrates on a musical they come up good—remember "Cover Girl?" Harry Cohn went off the lot for the director when he asked MGM for S. Sylvan Simon, and got him for the megaphoning job.

CAN'T SAY I panted with surprise when I heard that Mickey Rooney, who got in town Saturday from the war, goes into another "Andy Hardy" story, "Uncle Andy Hardy" to be exact. Mickey may have weathered all sorts of maturing events while in the service but to John Q. paying public he's still Andy, the perennial adolescent. The "Hardys" are very popular and, of course, Mickey will have Lewis Stone with him as Pa Hardy and Fay Holden as Ma. That's the way the public wants it, and that's the way they'll get it.

PHILLIP YORDAN didn't win the Academy Award for his original story on "Dillinger," but he has won plenty of assignments. He wrote the script of "The Chase" for Seymour Nebenzal and shares an interest in the picture. Nebenzal is a good business man. He offered Robert Cummings a percentage, and Bob will not only draw a weekly salary as the star but will collect from the picture's profits. Well, Bob is worth every nickel of whatever he earns. Yordan also has a deal with the King Brothers to write a suspense drama for Belita and Barry Sullivan.

IT WAS a happy party Henry Ginsberg and Y. Frank Freeman gave at La Rue's for Paramount's winning team, and they did sweep the board this year. Ray Milland was very cute and greeted me with, "Well, I took you off the hot seat." I had asked Ray two months ago to be on my program as the Academy winner I was so sure he was going to win. When Henry Ginsberg said to him, "I'll meet you at La Rue's, Ray answered: "If I win, yes. If I lose I'll see you at Utter-McKinley mortuary." Bob Hope was very funny when he introduced Eric Johnston and said he had been down with "Scarlet Street" fever, and don't think he hasn't! I telephoned Joan Crawford, who had a tear in her voice. Too bad she was sick and couldn't be present at her night of nights.

BRIGHT AND EARLY Sunday Mal and Ray Milland trek off for New York on the Constellation for a whirl. Ray has three months' vacation and is sitting on top of the world. He'll lock up his Oscar so he can look at it when he comes back. "Maybe," Ray told me, "we might even hop the Constellation in New York and go to Rio de Janeiro. No work for three months. Mal and I aren't planning a thing." He came to see me the day after the Academy awards, still walking in the clouds. We did the interview for my air show and while we were talking, Paramount kept calling him. All the press services and newspapers wanted interviews. It was very exciting.

CARY GRANT was all set to leave Hollywood March 15 on the inaugural overseas trip of the Constellation. He planned to take a cameraman with him and on his visit to Rome, Cairo, Paris, London and Athens make shots for a travelogue. He was to do it under the auspices of RKO, but the trip has been called off. Cary, however, is going to make this trip at a later date and says he's very interested in travelogues and wants to do a series. Think how they would sell—"Cary Grant in Paris"—"Cary Grant in London." It's a novel idea and I believe would be good box office.

IF ERIC JOHNSTON hasn't already learned about movie tieups, exploitation and press agent stuff, he's in for a surprise when he gets letters from Mayor John W. Barnes of Paris, Texas, the Kiwanis Club, Chamber of Commerce, the Lions Club and the Rotary of Paris, protesting Arnold Pressberger's using the title "A Scandal in Paris." It may sound far-fetched but these boys will do anything for exploitation. I thought maybe I had done something when I found letters from all these Paris organizations on my desk.

LEAVING TOWN FRIDAY with bag and baggage, fishing tackle and sport clothes, Nora Eddington and Errol Flynn took the "Zacca" out on its maiden voyage. They'll hunt wild boar and fish and be gone about two weeks. Nora says that thank goodness Diedre, her little daughter, hasn't measles. Nora's mother's stepdaughter, Nancy, age 15, has measles, so Diedre got the credit. Later, Errol will take his boat on an overseas cruise.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Judy Garland goes into the hospital today for a Caesarean operation; the Steve Crane-Paula Drew romance is getting to be worth our attention. Could be she will be Lana Turner's successor; will Ella Raines marry Phil Reed when she is free? Well, only those two know. They were at the King's the other eve acting as if they cared; Susan Peters, who has been in the hospital again, is once more home and feeling much better; the David Hempsteads have definitely split, and she's gone to New York with her children; the reason William K. Howard is stopping in so often at Pep's Cafe is because of Rose Finlay, the manager of the cafe; Louise Allbritton has been doing the night spots with Charles Collingswood, foreign correspondent and well-known radio announcer.

THE MOCAMBO was a gala spot after the Academy Awards. Shirley Temple, who was very cute, introducing her husband to Jimmie Dunn and congratulating him. She co-starred with him when a little girl. The RKO contingent included Ginger Rogers and her husband, Barbara Hale and Bill Williams, Mary Lee and Douglas Fairbanks and all the top executives; Adele Astaire (Lady Cavendish) reaches here Tuesday to visit Anita Loos and headed in our direction is a whole crowd of these English titled folk—the Countess of Beatty, who will visit Zoe Akins (her father-in-law was Admiral David Beatty, who was married to Marshall Field's daughter) the Duke and Duchess of Westminster and the Earl and Countess of Dudley are others who will look Hollywood over; Jan and Eddie Moran visited the lawyer to arrange for a divorce. Too bad they couldn't get together, Eddie wanted a reconciliation so much; Ernst Lubitsch is taking it easy for a couple of days. "Cluny Brown" was such a smash hit at the preview that it swept him off his feet. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: Maxwell Anderson, the prolific playwright, got powerful revenge on the New York drama critics when he bought a large advertisement and referred to the critics as "a sort of Jukes family of journalism" . . . Anderson's sense of humor in recent plays has not been very sharp, and it is thought that his description of the critics was pronounced with his customary seriousness.

THE "JUKES FAMILY" PHRASE has caught on, though, and friends have been twitting the drama-reviewers unmercifully . . . The critics, in their turn have taken it in good part . . . Bob Coleman told us at the premiere of "Little Brown Jug" that no less than eight acquaintances had introduced him to friends in the intermission a "Jukes boy" . . . When the second intermission came along, Coleman, Ward Morehouse and John Chapman —to name three of the critics who are on speaking terms—were kidding themselves, and greeting one another as "Brother Jukes" . . . We predict that the "Jukes" tag will have a long run, and will be mentioned when the last five or six Maxwell Anderson plays will have been forgotten.

FOR WINCHELL LISTENERS who may happen to be readers of this column—Dorothy Thompson was not the "think" columnist this department referred to the other day as the columnist about to embrace a new faith . . . Walter took time in his fast-paced radio show Sunday to say that Miss Thompson was not on the verge of conversion, as many reports said . . . We can now make known the identity of a "former President's son" who, like the columnist (male) we told about in our paragraph, is about to espouse a new religion . . . He is James Roosevelt, of California . . . A Washington prelate is responsible for both conversions.

THE NEW GAY NINETIES in Hayward Place (the site of Levaggi's) bought a good thing for its opening in the venerable person of Pat Rooney . . . Pat has drawn business consistently in Boston, and before Sophie Tucker, Harry Richman and Jackie Miles hung up records in the last year of the World War II nightclub boom (which was 1945), Rooney ranked next to Beatrice Kay as a Boston nightclub "draw" . . . The Gay Nineties gets another "break" its owners probably did not expect.

Just as the new Boston spot was getting ready to open, Louis Sobol, the columnist for the New York Journal, was closing a contract with Warners to do a picture called "The Gay Nineties" . . . It will be, in part, the story of Bill Hardy's New York original Gay Nineties . . . Boston had a Gay Nineties 10 years ago . . . Tom Maren was the operator, and an Atlantic avenue hotel, the old Rossmore, housed the cabaret . . . A few thousand pounds of buxom dames, known as "The Thundering Herd," was the chorus.

RANNY WEEKS seems set for a long run at the Balinese Room, in the Hotel Somerset . . . Bill Dewey's good orchestra is building a reputation and a clientele of dance-lovers at the Music Box . . . Esther Hill, the Hollywood screen-writer, saw her first horse race in December. Two months later, she is the proud owner of War Knight, winner of a $100,000 race . . . That's hoss-racing—and also Hollywood.

WASHINGTON, March 11—I have discovered that people will believe almost anything about Washington, no matter how far-fetched. In fact, the more far-fetched, the more they're inclined to give it credence.

I had a concrete illustration of this the other evening after our White House correspondents' dinner. Mr. Bert Wheeler, who is one of the most loved men in show business—and who loves everybody—was on hand as master of ceremonies, and afterward we took him upstairs to hoist a few with the dignitaries.

Bert Wheeler

Although the latter are bona fide dignitaries, by this hour they were not too dignified. Mr. Wheeler recognized many of the illustrious kissers from pictures in the newspapers and was wide-eyed with amazement.

Being the lovable felow he is, the eminent comedian started to give everybody a warm handshake and a big hello. Noting this, I drew him aside. With Brig. Gen. Joseph Francis Battley—who was in on the gag—nodding solemn agreement, I admonished our guests as follows:

"Washington is not like New York and other places. Here you must exercise judgment about whom you shake hands with. First, you must ascertain how they stand currently.

"If they are away up top," I went on, "it is all right to greet them warmly, even effusively. In fact, it is downright mandatory. If you are not certain how they stand, but think they may go up, you give them a reserved or tentative handshake.

"But if they are out—or on their way out—you give them a very cold 'pleased to meet ya' and look around for somebody more important."

FRANKLY, I had not expected the gag to go over—but I discounted the extent of things people will believe about Washington. Mr. Wheeler was positively aghast.

"Well," he exploded, "I had heard something of the sort, but I wouldn't have believed it! If you ask me, it is disgusting. Why—it's—it's—it's un-American, that's what it is!"

I assured Mr. Wheeler it was nevertheless the case and implored him to act accordingly.

"If you don't want the ruling powers to come down on you, you had better be careful," I added.

A few minutes later, General Battley pointed across the room and there was Mr. Wheeler chatting with Herbert Brownell, retiring Republican national chairman. I dashed up.

"Not him!" I cried, pretending to be horrified. "You mustn't be seen speaking to him at all. He is definitely on his way out!"

We left the bewildered Mr. Brownell. A few handshakes later Mr. Wheeler was gabbing with Mr. Tom Blake, of the State Department. As I approached, the comedian looked at me inquiringly.

"I don't know," I said, pretending to be in doubt. "Some say yes, some say no. He is a very smart fellow and it is possible he may be going up. Just be sort of reserved and stand-offish with him, until I can learn more."

We left Mr. Blake more baffled than Mr. Brownell. Up came Julius A. (Cap) Krug, new Secretary of the Interior. Mr. Krug must have been surprised by the warmth of Mr. Wheeler's greeting, not knowing I had whispered:

"Give this fellow everything you have. He is red hot right now!"

It is a good thing Mr. Krug is sturdily built, or Mr. Wheeler would have pumped his arm off. A couple of minutes later I introduced him to Mr. Charles Ross, the President's secretary, and again Mr. Wheeler looked for his cue.

"I think this one is okay," I said. "He has two more years to go anyway. Give him a fair-to-middling hello, but do not stand talking to him too long as other elements in the Democratic Party may write you off as an unreclaimable Truman man. We must look forward to 1948."

JUST THEN, Mr. Wheeler spotted Steve Early, FDR's man Friday. His face set stubbornly, the comedian snapped:

"I don't care how he stands, I am going to say hello to Steve—and the devil with you and your politics!"

I told Mr. Wheeler that here was a definite exception; that he could speak to Mr. Early because the latter is now with the Pullman Company and might be able to wangle train reservations.

This was too much for Mr. Wheeler. He blew his top.

"I don't care what he can do!" he screamed. He is a nice guy and that's all I care. Furthermore, to hell with you and your politics—and you can tell all Washington I said so!

"Believe me," added Mr. Wheeler, when he had cooled off a trifle, "This is a lousy note. The rest of the country would be justified if it seceded from Washington!"

LATER General Battley and I confessed it was all a gag—but when we parted with him about 5 A. M. Mr. Wheeler still looked dubious.

B. U., Tufts, M. I. T. Join Oratory Test

By BERT FORD

Three distinguished Greater Boston colleges—Tufts College, Boston University and Massachusetts Institute of Technology—were officially entered today in the 1946 Hearst Newspapers National Oratorical Contest, pledged to train and groom their students as prospective winners.

The subject of the contest is: "Andrew Jackson, Seventh President of the United States," one which has aroused the enthusiasm of thousands of high school and college students in 13 major cities throughout the nation.

"Tufts College will be very glad to take part in the fourth annual Hearst Newspapers National Oratorical Contest," writes John R. Woodruff, acting chairman of the department of drama and speech at Tufts.

From Boston University came announcement that Prof. George D. Sneath of the College of Liberal Arts, would be contact man for the contest at the university, offering to do all in his power to arouse interest and to produce a winner.

From E. F. Perry, coach of the debating team at Technology, comes this welcome co-operation in the contest. He writes:

"In order to bring the contest to the attention of the students I am having a piece written for the Tech, campus paper, and a notice read in freshman English and sophomore history sections. I am asking interested students to come to see me before the end of next week.

"Certainly the subject and the prizes are attractive and ought to evoke interest. If there are enough local men interested I will stage a local contest and send the winner over to your local Boston finals."

The Boston finals will be held April 10 in Faneuil Hall, and the two top winners of this contest will be eligible for the eastern zone contest, to be held in Boston April 24. Winner of this contest will be eligible for the national finals, also in Boston, on May 2. Both eastern zone and national finals will be held at Boston Latin School, the nation's oldest public school.

National and local awards in the contest, all in Victory Bonds, total $25,000. Local prizes are: First, $250; second, $100; third, 75; fourth, $50, fifth, $25, all in Victory Bonds.

Mrs. Beatrice Ayer Patton of Hamilton, widow of the late great general, George Smith Patton, is honorary national chairman of the contest.

Never Faltered

When Andrew Jackson and his 2000 handpicked troops marched into Florida to fight and crush the Seminole Indians, he was faced with more enemies than his redskin savages. The English, although recently defeated at New Orleans, were secretly sponsoring Indian uprisings. The Spanish, who then owned Florida, were in sympathy with the English.

It is typical of Andrew Jackson's courage, and his grasp of a complex situation, that he did not falter.

'We have defeated one enemy," he remarked, "and we can defeat three." He had soon conquered the Seminoles in Florida, and Spain sold this territory to the United States. The English had given up interfering in affairs dominated by Andrew Jackson.

2 Brake Lessons Nearly Break Him

GLOUCESTER, March 11—Joseph B. Ruth of Winchester ct. is a man who follows instructions.

Lloyd M. Larsen, Exchange st., wanted to sell him an automobile. "Take it around the block for a trial," said Larsen, "but go easy on the brakes because if you push it down hard you'll go up against the windshield."

Ruth went around the block. As he drew up to Laren he tried to stop with gentle brake pressure. The car did not stop. He tried a little more gentle braking. The car hit Larsen and pinned him against another auto. He was treated for cuts and bruises at Addison Gilbert Hospital.

"Got a telephone we could have, mister?"

"I sure have, Sis . . . if that's the house you live in. But don't go thinking it's just on account of your pretty smile."

* * *

SCENES LIKE THIS . . . of telephone orders actually being filled . . . are taking place every day in many New England communities. For, in certain areas, telephone central offices are big enough to handle more connections. All that's needed are the telephone instruments themselves. And they're beginning to come in fast now from the factories.

In some places, though, the job isn't so simple. Vast behind-the-scenes work must be done before we can bring a telephone to everybody who wants one. We are stringing wires and laying cables. We're having switchboards made and in some places we're already installing them. In some instances new buildings are being constructed to house the new switchboards.

It's going to take time to do all that . . . in some places, perhaps until late summer. But the point is, with manpower again available and materials more plentiful, we're doing the job just as fast as we know how.

Creamy Lotion Gives Soft Skin Base

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

COME FEBRUARY we dream of March. Come March we pray for spring . . . but the tag-end of winter wears on . . . and we New Englanders know it only too well. Not only do we know it . . . but we feel it . . . and all too often we look it.

Steamheated buildings have dehydrated us . . . and winter's soft coal dust has taken its toll of a city dweller's complexion. Or is your office cleaner than mine? Now the winds rage and blow . . . now comes a little thaw . . . but we don't even trust April, let alone March. For we still remember April of last year which was more leoine than its preceding month of March.

The air is still chill and raw . . . and if you're wondering about the weather . . . how about wondering what to do about your face as you approach the transition from winter to spring? This is a tricky time of year . . . even though our fancy begins to turn to thoughts of you know what.

Soon we'll be all taken up with exuding all possible charm . . . for this is the time of year when we girls come out of winter hibernation and start making plans for spring blossoming like a crocus about to poke its head above the ground. We must have a protective program of skin-care to stand between us and nature's blustering drama of the changing seasons.

A house famous for its program of hydronized oil skin management puts forth a product that is great aid for the skin . . . helping it to maintain its normal healthy tone and elasticity against the hazards of the in-between season beauty blight. You may think your skin can take it . . . but why ask it to? Why gamble with your complexion . . . when you know how important it is to your look . . . that precious look that sets off your personality?

This creamy lotion not only gives a transparent, soft, filmy foundation to the skin . . . but even while protecting it, still permits that rosy, live, natural beauty to come through. So you are not masking your gift to what other eyes must feast on . . . but enhancing it for the long, warm days ahead.

Here is something to use on the skin every time you apply makeup. It is like a prop to a beautiful setting . . . intensifying it for the deft artistry you ultimately apply to your face.

For the name of this transparent, soft, filmy foundation that protects and beautifies the complexion, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IF MARCH-WISE and 'you won't be April-foolish. This is no time of the year to take chances with your complexion . . . for it is seasonal transitional time . . . the change of seasons when blustery weather thaws into warm spring . . . we hope. So let a creamy lotion that doesn't add color to the skin-tone but enhances the complexion be your entre-acte protection in the drama of changing seasons.

From Broken-Hearted Wife

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I read all your letters, and I know there has never been a person whose heart has been broken more than mine.

On April 19th, I will have been married six years. I love my husband more than life itself. He is in the Seabees. I have seen him once in 17 months. I have reports that he is the father of another girl's baby. I have waited for him to tell me, have written him letters without receiving any answer from him. If he would come to me, or write me, and tell me he is in love with this girl and wants to marry her, I would gladly give him a divorce, much as I love him. But he gives me nothing to go on.

My happiness is with him. I know I will never find it elsewhere. But if the war has changed him, and he can find happiness elsewhere, I want him to be happy. That is how much I love him. Can the other girl love him this much, when she knew he was a married man?

When we were married, I thought we had a perfect understanding. In fact, we both agreed that we had. We were madly in love with each other. I know I was a good wife as well as sweetheart. I am going crazy trying to figure out what mistake I might have made. He was in the States 90 days, and I saw him once, for half an hour.

BROKEN-HEARTED WIFE.

I'm sure you are right, that no one has ever been more broken-hearted than you are. But it might be some faint comfort to you to know that many have had their hearts broken the same way and can well understand what you are going through. And they have managed to live through it and find happiness again.

Since you have written your husband so often, and have told him you are ready to give him up if he wants to marry this girl, and he has not so far answered you, why not stop writing to him for awhile? His is definitely the next move. You can accomplish nothing at this point by keeping after him. Perhaps he is too ashamed to write you right now, and not brave enough to face the fact that he has betrayed your love and your loyalty. Perhaps he has got himself so confused that he doesn't really know, just now, what he does want.

Try not to keep wondering if you made a mistake. It is not likely that you did. You are so unselfish in your love for him that you can make yourself be patient awhile longer and wait until he gets to the point, as he undoubtedly will, where he is willing to talk this thing over with you.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have been separated from my husband 17 years. We were married 19 years, but only lived together two years. Our separation was on account of his family interfering in our affairs. In other words, we never did go back together after we separated.

Since then, he has lost his mind and is in an institution. Could I get a divorce, and would it be the wise thing to do, because I am interested in some one else? MRS. A. L.

In all states, continuing insanity is a cause for either divorce or a legal separation. If you are quite certain that there is no chance of your husband, recovering, and you wish to marry some one else, you should consult a lawyer to see if your state is one which recognizes insanity as a cause for divorce. If it permits only legal separation, however, you obviously could not remarry.

It's the Pockets This Spring

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THIS spring a lot of our best styles are caught in a pocket, as it were. They wouldn't be new fashions if it wasn't for these pockets, which are really something super in that breed. Look at a spring coat or suit and note how the pockets dominate the scenery. They are style itself.

One beautifully cut coat from Pauline Trigere, sketched by Miss Dulin, demonstrates how pockets can make fashion news. The pockets on this navy blue tweed coat are very soft and big patch pockets. They are set at the front of the skirt, and at the top fit under points descending from the fitted waist section. The buttons that fasten the coat are big with navy leather rims and cloth centers.

Cereals Plentiful

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

THE RECENT order on wheat will not seriously affect the cereal breakfast food supply, since the grains used are not only wheat but corn, oats and rice. Indications are that supplies will be adequate. And the egg supply, according to government prediction, is record-breaking.

So let's consider ways to make use of this month's plentiful foods—cereals and eggs. First, we'll take Mexicana Cereal Souffle. The wheat flakes in this dish not only take the "temperment" out of the souffle, but also add flavor goodness and nutritive value. Cereals are a good source of body-building protein, the B vitamins (thiamine, riboflavin, niacin) and minerals.

MEXICANA CEREAL SOUFFLE

2 tbsp. butter or margarine
¼ cup minced onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
3 tbsp. flour
1 cup milk
3 eggs
¾ tsp. salt
Dash of pepper
1 cup wheat flakes
¼ cup chopped pimiento

Melt butter, add onion and green pepper. Cook slowly until vegetables are tender and slightly browned. Add flour, and stir to a smooth paste. Add milk gradually; cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Separate egg whites and yolks. Beat yolks with salt and pepper. Stir hot milk mixture gradually into yolks. Add wheat flakes and pimiento. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into mixture. Pour into greased, deep 8-inch casserole. Place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 40 minutes, or until deg. F.) for 40 minutes, or until mushroom sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

MUSHROOM SAUCE

2 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tbsp. flour
1 cup milk
½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
1-3 cup chopped or sliced cooked mushrooms

Melt butter and stir in flour; gradually stir in milk, and stir until mixture boils and thickens, then cook about 3 minutes longer, stirring occasionally; add seasonings and mushrooms. Place over hot water to keep hot and cover tightly to prevent crust from forming. Makes about 1 1-3 cups.

Oatmeal Soufle, which also combines wholesome cereal, milk and eggs, owes its tangy flavor to a further addition of grated sharp cheese.

OATMEAL SOUFFLE

2-3 cup milk
1 cup oatmeal
2-3 cup grated sharp cheese
2 to 3 drops onion juice
½ tsp. salt
Dash of pepper
2 eggs

Heat milk and combine with oatmeal, cook about 3 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat, cool slightly, stir in grated cheese and seasonings. Separate eggs and beat yolks slightly. Blend about ¼ cup of the oatmeal mixture with egg yolks; then add to remainder of oatmeal mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into first mixture. Pour into greased baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and bake in slow oven (325 deg. F.) for about 1 hour or until an inserted knife will come out clean. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

BAKED EGG AND CEREAL RAMEKINS

3 cups crisp rice cereal
½ cup grated American cheese
4 eggs
Salt and pepper
½ cup cream or top milk

Combine cereal and cheese. Arrange in 4 shallow individual ramekins or baking dishes. Break egg into each ramekin on rice cereal; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pour 1 tablespoon cream or top milk on each. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 15 minutes. Serve hot. (One large shallow ramekin or baking dish may be used instead of individual ramekins if desired.) Makes 4 servings.

Delay Betrothal Party

CHARLOTTE WORTHEN and John B. Reece have had to postpone for a few weeks the exciting party they planned to give last evening to tell their close friends of their engagement, because John is in the hospital with an emergency apendectomy.

Nevertheless their betrothal is formally announced today by Charlotte's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Treat Worthen of Lime st., and John's mail at the hospital will be flooded with congratulatory messages because his bride-to-be is one of the prettiest and most popular of this winter's debutantes.

Charlotte Worthen

Charlotte graduated from Winsor School last June and made her debut with Amey Amory and Alva Hood, 2d, at a dance at The Country Club. She belongs to the Vincent Club and is chairman of provisional members of the Junior League.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin A. Reece of Chestnut Hill, John graduated from Noble and Greenough and Harvard '41. His clubs include Owl, D.K.E., Hasty Pudding Institute of 1770 and The Country Club.

DOROTHY RACKEMANN, chairman of the 54th annual Vincent show "Tonight at 8:30" has a large and capable committee for the 1946 production April 3 to 6 at N. E. Mutual Hall. Proceeds of the five performances will benefit the Vincent Memorial Hospital.

Dodie's assistants include Jane Megrew, show treasurer, Sally Reed, costumes, Marian Minot and Mrs. Robert Hurlibut, props, Mrs. Gelston T. King, reservations, Virginia Brown, program secretary, and Mrs. Charles Wells Hubbard, 3d, patronesses. Since the audience will sit cabaret style at tables with refreshments at intermission, there will be a bevy of waitresses under Mrs. Nelson Aldrich. Mrs. George N. Chamberlain in charge of flower vendors, Mrs. John E. Yerxa, program girls and Mrs. Arthur Brooks, Jr., the traditional lavendar and white Vincent costumes for waitresses, flower girls, etc.

OFF ON A HONEYMOON to Bermuda are the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Murray Boutwell, 3d (Louise Taylor Barr), whose wedding took place Saturday in the First Congregational Church, Winchester, with a reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. George Bradford Hayward. After June 1st they will be at home in Marblehead.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Hayward, Louise wore an ivory satin bridal gown with seed-pearl yoke and rose-point lace veil, with a cap of the same heirloom lace and orange blossoms. She carried orchids, stephanotis, freesia and maiden-hair fern. Her bridesmaids wore lovely net gowns with shirred bodices and peplums, two each in pastel shades of hyacinth, aqua and rose. They had headdresses of matching plumes and baby orchids and carried tulips and snapdragon in maroon and dusty pink. They were Mrs. Harry P. Hood, Jr., Carol Grant, Mary Louise Collier, Mrs. Frederick S. Troy, Jr., Mrs. William E. Simmons and Mrs. William Chewning. Mrs. Robert Cowgill, Wilmington, Del., matron of honor, wore white net with pink and violet tulips and snapdragon.

John J. Scully, Jr., of Winchester, was best man. The bride's mother received in a gown of copen blue crepe with draped skirt, long sleeves and lavendar orchids. Mrs. Roland Hill Boutwell, 2d, of Winchester and Marblehead, mother of the groom, wore fuchsia with sequin trim and fuchsia orchids.

The bride graduated from Brimmer May and Edgewood Park Junior College. The groom is a Yale '40 graduate and was recently discharged from the Army after 31 months in E. T. O.

Bogus Nylon Cards Presented

An attempt by a Boston department store to spread its limited supply of nylons among steady customers by mailing them cards to present at the store ran into a snag when a flow of counterfeit cards began to show up, it was disclosed today.

Local federal agents said somebody copied the cards and evidently sold them to unspecting women who presented them at the store in good faith and received the nylons. An investigation is being made.

Yank, Jap MP's Start Street-Walker Drive

TOKYO, March 11 (AP)—Office girls and daughters of formerly well-to-do families were found among 300 street walkers rounded up last night by Jap and U. S. military police, Tokyo papers said today. Most of the girls were released with a warning, after medical examination.

Nearly half those examined were suffering from venereal disease.

British Withdraw From East Indies

BATAVIA, March 11 (AP) — Approximately 1000 British Indian troops boarded ships today as the British began to withdraw from the Netherlands East Indies.

Embarkation followed arrival here of 2400 Dutch troops from Malaya.

A British convoy was "heavily engaged" by Indonesians between Buitenzorg and Bandoeng. Spitfires made five strafing runs on the natives. Fighting continued through the night, it was said.

Danny O'Neil's Debut Sunday

Danny O'Neil, nationally famous radio tenor star and soloist of the well-known "Blue Jacket Choir" of the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, will make his concert debut in Boston at Symphony Hall St. Patrick's Day night Sunday.

For a young man who was told by doctors a few years ago that he would never sing again, Danny O'Neil has done amazingly well. He has managed to crowd more activity into years of living than most people manage in a lifetime. He has attended 53 schools, made his professional singing debut at the age of eight, been a newspaper photographer, lost his voice, joined the Navy, regained his voice, broken his back, been hospitalized for seven months and carved himself a broad niche in the hall of fame of the entertainment world. He did all of these things before he was 24!

Discharged from the Navy three days before Pearl Harbor because of a broken back, he essayed radio work in Chicago and was earning $50,000 a year there with his golden voice until he decided to try his fortune in New York.

His concert program will feature favorite and traditional Irish songs. He will be assisted by Ruby Newman and his concert orchestra.

Condon Concert Tonight

Eddie Condon, the Goodland, Ind., boy who put jazz music on the concert stage, brings his famous hot musicians to Symphony Hall tonight, at 8:30.

These are the same jazz artists that Eddie has presented for the past five years at his sell-out concerts in Town Hall and Carnegie Hall in New York City.

The Condon troupe includes some of the legendary figures of the jazz world. Included in this fabulous aggregation is Joe Sullivan, of Chicago, perhaps the greatest white jazz pianist alive. As a boy he played around Chicago with Bix Beiderbecke and other youthful jazz greats. He made his first records there in 1927 with a band that included Gene Krupa, Frank Teschmaker, Bud Freeman. Eddie Condon was the leader and at 19 the oldest of them all.

Another is trumpeter Max Kaminsky, who has been tagged a Chicago musician so often that it is increasingly difficult to convince people that Boston is his home. One of the greatest of jazzmen, many critics believe that he has inherited Beiderbecke's mantle.

Clarinetist Joe Dixon, of Lowell, is a comparatively new recruit to the Eddie Condon concert troupe. A refugee from the Tommy Dorsey and Fred Waring operations, he has developed into one of the finest jazz soloists.

Trombonist George Brunis, a tall-gate man who will open up at tonight's concert, has been a spark-plug in the jazz movement for two decades. He's from New Orleans, literally, figuratively, musically. Bill Priestly once compared the Brunis jazz trombone tone to "the sound of next winter's coal being delivered."

CHILDREN'S THEATER BILL

GIs' Educational Rights Have Strong Champion

By JACK CONWAY

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11—Solicitor General J. Howard McGrath, former Governor of Rhode Island, told this writer in an exclusive interview that the colleges and the government should do everything possible to see that every young man who has the necessary educational qualifications and who wishes to go to college is able to do so.

"The GI bill furnishes the money for our former servicemen to gain a college education," said McGrath, "and it is now up to the colleges and the government to do everything they can to see that they reach their goal."

Howard McGrath

Included among those who today are unable to get into colleges are many leading high and prep school athletes and other athletic stars who completed one or two years of college when they were called into service. College sports will reach a higher plane if these youngsters are given an opportunity to further their education.

"There should not be a monopoly on education," declared the solicitor general. "The fact that a particular college or university can only care for a certain number of students at this time should not cause the educational institution to close its doors on boys who have the needed qualifications.

"Every day I receive letters in my mail from returning servicemen who are trying to get into a college; some of them look upon getting them into college as a political favor. Such a condition should not exist. The doors of the educational institutions should be open to all.

"New England is rich with great colleges and universities. In Greater Boston you have Harvard, Boston College, Boston University, Tufts, Northeastern and other fine institutions.

"In Rhode Island, my native state, Brown, Rhode Island State, Providence College and other schools of learning have high standing. Dartmouth, at Hanover, N. H.; Holy Cross, at Worcester; Amherst and Williams are other leading institutions; Bowdoin, Bates, Colby and the other Maine colleges have also done well over the years. There are many more great New England colleges.

Movement Needs Help

"It is the duty of the colleges and the government to provide what space is needed to care for the 1,000,000 former service men desiring advanced educations. There are countless other thousands of boys just completing high and prep school who must be provided with college facilities. There are other thousands who were in the maritime service and other branches of war service during the war and who are now returning to normal living.

"The colleges must go to these men and boys instead of saying they cannot care for them. I would like to see our New England colleges set up annexes in Army camps like Fort Devens and in a naval camp like the one at Davisville, R. I.

"These are ready-made college grounds at Davisville. There is one of the largest swimming pools in the world, the best of athletic fields and excellent field house facilities. There are living quarters and everything else that is needed to conduct a great university. It would be a good place for some of our Rhode Island colleges to establish annexes.

"I am sure there are ample professors. During the war 33,000 fliers were schooled at Quonsett by experts in scientific subjects. The Navy could speed up the discharges of some of these men so that they could participate in a civilian program. It would also be possible for the regular staff of college professors to give additional lectures at these annexes. This would give the professors additional compensation which they certainly are entitled to.

"Right here in Washington I could recruit enough able teachers to take care of an entire college. Some of these men were professors before the war and they were associated with the Army and Navy educational programs.

"There would be some transportation problems but these could easily be overcome

Education Vital

"If the United States is to retain its position as the leading nation in the world we must give all who wish it the full opportunities for education. Our people in the past have always been offered the opportunities of a full education and this condition should continue.

"In addition to Army and Navy camps there are many buildings that have been used for war purposes which can be turned over to education. Reasonable rental arrangements can be made between the colleges and the government so that no college is obliged to assume any financial risk."

Solicitor General McGrath, as the representative of the United States in all of its important legal decisions and in appearances before the Supreme Court, is one of the most active government officials in Washington on account of the variance in time in different parts of the country. His busiest time is between 5 p. m. and 7 p. m.

After the close of court the solicitor general is always at his desk, during these hours, giving legal advice to district attorneys in the conduct of the trials in progress in all parts of the United States.

The solicitor general, Mrs. McGrath and eight-year old David live in a modern single house on Chesapeake st.

The McGrath home is surrounded by other fine houses and while only 15 minutes from the office of the solicitor general the place has a fine country surrounding.

The 27th solicitor general in the history of the United States enjoys his home and his friends from New England. He has become one of the most powerful and most important figures in Washington.

Chicago Stadium Bans Pro Fights

CHICAGO, March 11 (INS)—Professional boxing was out today in the Chicago Stadium, world's largest indoor arena, until the management can obtain fighters who can give fans adequate return for the price of admission.

Arthur M. Wirtz, executive vice-president of the stadium, made the announcement in the wake of the Arturo Godoy-Lee Savold "no-contest" fiasco in the establishment 10 days ago.

WEARY PICS REST

The weary Olympics rested today following their second consecutive EHL playoff defeat over the weekend at the hands of the Philadelphia Falcons, 3 to 2.

Priest, 152, Esparza 146 For Garden Go Tonight

Red Priest of Cambridge gets a good chance to step higher on the fistic ladder tonight when he tackles Nava Esparza of Mexico in the main event of a Goodwin club show in the Garden. Three other 10-rounders complete the program. Priest weighed in at 152½ today, while Esparza scaled 146½, in the usual ceremonies at the State Boxing Commission headquarters.

Esparza, a capable infighter, has sufficient class to give Priest one of his hardest assignments since Cambridge Al got out of the Navy recently.

The 10-round semi-final pairs Joe Blackwood, Paterson, N. J., with Frankie Terry of Brooklyn. Terry holds a draw with Rocky Graziano.

Terry was 159½ today and Blackwood 158, at weigh-in time.

Kid Chicken of Pittsburgh will face Reedy Evans of Chicago in the third ten. A middleweight contender, the Chicken has had considerable success in Springfield, Holyoke and Chicopee fight clubs.

Boston's Johnny Shkor will return to boxing after his discharge from the Navy against heavyweight ex-soldier Ralph Ivins, Brunswick, N. J., in the opening ten. Ivins made his "pro" debut here recently in a punching session with Cleo Everett.

CYO Hoopsters In Title Battle

Representing the various leagues in the CYO basketball circuit, eight teams will be paired off tonight in the quarter finals of the play-offs at Somerville High School gym starting at 6:45 o'clock.

The teams are the survivors of 165 teams in various deaneries in Greater Boston.

In the junior division, St. Joseph's of Medford, Southern Middlesex champs, will face St. Agatha's of Milton, Norfolk champs, at 6:45. St. Vincent's of South Boston, Suffolk A champs, will tilt with St. Patrick's of Brockton, Plymouth winners, in the same division.

Our Lady of Grace of Chelsea, Suffolk intermediate club, will play St. Pius of Lynn, Essex titlists, at 8:30, and Immaculate Conception of Somerville, Southern Middlesex champs in A division, will face Immaculate Conception of Lowell, North Middlesex hoop stars, at 9 o'clock.

Durocher Trial Over to April 22

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—The trial of Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers on charges of second-degree assault was postponed until April 22 today by Kings County Judge Louis Goldstein when the defense said several witnesses were not available.

Durocher and Joseph Moore, Ebbets Field policeman, are charged with assaulting a spectator, John Christian, following a night game last June 9. Christian spent 11 days in the hospital, where 22 stitches were taken. He also suffered a fractured jaw.

Harvard, Yale Top Eastern Court Teams

The East, with 15 names in a list of 36 teams beaten only five or less times, produced the best college basketball teams this year, an Associated Press survey showed today.

The survey disclosed that 11 of the remaining 12 high-ranking quintets hail from the Midwest; four each from the South and Far West, and two from the Southwest.

Harvard, 19-1, and Yale, 14-1, top the Eastern teams, followed by West Virginia, 22-2; Muhlenberg, 21-2; New York University, 18-2; Rhode Island State, 18-2; Syracuse, 23-3; Lafayette, 14-3; Dartmouth, 13-3; Navy, 12-3; Holy Cross, 12-3; CCNY, 13-4.

Bruins Reach Peak For Playoff Grind

By FRED HOEY

Through the courtesy of the Maple Leafs the Boston Bruins last night at the Boston Garden put on a preview of the playoffs when the locals defeated Toronto, 7-3.

N. H. L. STANDING

To Play		W.	L.	T.	Pts	Goals For	Goals Ag.
3	Montreal	27	16	4	58	157	120
3	BOSTON	23	17	8	52	158	140

3	Toronto	17	23	6	40	153	171
3	New York	11	27	9	31	129	180

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS

BRUINS 7, Toronto 3.
Montreal 3, Chicago 1.
New York 3, Detroit 2.

The usual capacity crowd of 13,900 was on hand. They saw hockey approximately at its best. It was a swell open game of hockey, fast skating, beautiful stick handling and here and there a dash of dandy team work. It was a game for the fans.

The result of the game put the Maple Leafs, last year's Allen Cup winners, right out of the picture. The results of last night's games sealed a lot of things for the moment. Montreal defeated Chicago, 3 to 2. The Rangers took Detroit, 3 to 2.

Those Bruins were really moving last night. If it wasn't the Kitchener Line dashing in and upsetting the Toronto apple cart it was the Bill Cowley Line.

The Kitchener Line was immense. The Bill Cowley one, with Roy Conacher on the left side and Terry Reardon on the right wing, was just as effective. Then Don Gallinger came into action to add more misery to the Toronto cause.

It was some of the best hockey observer has seen in a long time. Open play, swell passing, minimum of rough stuff, and dandy defense play by the outer boys, as well as Frank Brimsek and Turk Broda.

The most sensational goal was scored by Beppo Guidolin in the second period. Beppo grabbed the puck in center ice. He wigwagged his way through the entire Toronto team and scored. It was a beautiful effort. The best play of the night.

Happy Probes 54 Cuba Players

HAVANA, March 11 (AP)—Commr. Happy Chandler left the door wide open today for all of baseball's wandering sheep to return to the fold before the opening of the U. S. leagues' seasons, but held over their heads a threat of at least five years' suspension for those who refused. While inviting the "contract breaker" back in line, Chandler revealed that Cuban Sports Commr. Luis Rodriguez had been given permission to act as mediator in the hope of establishing uniform baseball contracts in the United States, Cuba and Mexico.

The commissioner also disclosed that 54 players were under investigation for playing in the Cuban league after the prescribed time limit of 10 days after the close of the major league season or 31 days after the end of the minor league season or for playing against ineligibile players.

A trio of St. Louis Cardinals, first baseman Dick Sisler, second baseman Lou Klein and pitcher Freddy Martin, and many others come under the rule. Chandler said each case would be considered individually, but added "each is subject to penalty."

Ronnie Cahill Joins Buffalo Grid Club

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 11 (AP)—Ronnie Cahill of Leominster, former Holy Cross star, has been signed by the Buffalo All-America football club, General Manager Sam Cordovano announced today.

Before entering military service, Cahill was with the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League

Whalers Face Nashua Quintet

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Coach Win Dodge's Cinderella basketball team from New Bedford High School—upholding the eastern sector of the state in the New England championships this week—will be up against a speedy, classy Nashua High group in the opening round of the title play at the Boston Garden Thursday night.

This contest will open three torrid nights of competition with champions from all the New England States battling for the title now held by Hillhouse High School of Connecticut, back in the running this season.

Pairings for the first round will have Bristol, runner up to Hillhouse in the Nutmeg race, facing Springfield, Vermont, in the opener; Hillhouse meeting Edward Little High of Auburn, Maine, winner over Bangor in the play-offs and Westfield, by its 59 to 56 elimination of Worcester Classical, tangling with Pawtucket East the little Rhode Island contender, through virtue of its triumph over Newport.

The local hope will have no soft bed of roses. Coach Dodge's Whalers have just completed three hot nightly sessions, driving the Eastern co-favorite Attleboro out of the tourney in the first round; then edging through a scare with Brockton before topping a fighting Somerville outfit. It has been a whale of a week-end for the Whalers.

Capt. John Langlois has been the only casualty with a slight ankle sprain but it is hardly enough to keep him out of the important New Englands. He'll take his place in the regular line-up with Pepper-Pot Joe Perreira, sharp shooter Joe Camacho, elongated George Handler and speedy Ray Blanchard.

New Bedford will have to hit the same high peak of perfection it reached Saturday night against Somerville to keep its head in the running in this court carnival. A single letdown, such as Somerville suffered in the third period of the Eastern finals, could wipe the Whalers right off the futurity slate.

There is little doubt that the attractiveness of this program will be hindered by the lack of a local entry in the field of eight teams. Tourney officials could be assured of capacity crowds to rival the shows of the past week if Somerville had won out. But now with New Bedford entering this opener as the under-dog, there's a possibility that he rooting will have to be concentrated on the other Bay State entry, Westfield.

Players participating in the tourney will the guests of the Advertising Club of Boston once again this year at a gala banquet at the Hotel Statler Friday afternoon . . . the Ad club gave the boys a grand party and a grand welcome last year and Pres. Paul Swaffield is lining up another nifty program.

Court play locally will move into its final stages next week with the New England Catholic tournament topping off the season at the Arena . . . It's scheduled for the 23d, 24th and 25th with participating teams to be announced later . . . Two representatives from the local Catholic League will be in the draw with the Archbishop Cushing Trophy at stake.

War Vets Get Call on Sox Hill

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 11—One of the most interesing experiments in post-war baseball will be made here tomorrow when Earl Johnson, Bill Butland and Larry Powell of the Red Sox pitch three innings a piece against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Why interesting? Because Johnson hasn't pitched a big league game since 1941, Butland sine '42 and Larry a league game since '41. Not one of the three had a baseball in his hands from '43 until this spring.

Bill Butland

They've been in the Army, you see, and have excellent combat records. Johnson, an infantryman, won two battlefield promotions and wound up a first looey with four battle stars, including one for the Bulge. Powell, an artilleryman, also had four battle stars in the ETO. Butland was in the artillery in the Pacific, landed at New Guinea and wound up chasing the Japanese through the mountains of Luzon.

Their combat records stand out in startling contrast to those big leaguers who majored in baseball while in the service. To date, none have been overtaxed in camp. They've been getting their legs in trim before their arms. But all three feel they can work three innings and are anxious for the test.

Johnson was a promising southpaw in '41 with a motion to first base that seldom has been surpassed in baseball. He had a fine curve ball, too. Butland won seven in a row in '42, defeating every club in the league after starting late in the season.

Powell is a southpaw, the second (Hubell) in history to specialize in a screwball. He was a big winner with Frisco when Dom DiMaggio played there. He didn't stick with the Sox in '41 being inducted into the Army from San Diego July 9, 1941. Every GI in the land, every fan in the land will be pulling for them to make good.

Lou Boudreau, Cleveland manager, played his rookies against the Sox irregulars before an overflow crowd of 3500 in the Sarasota Sabbath opener. Cleveland won 5-4. Highlights were the hitting of York and Flair, who divided the first basing. The Indians hit the ball viciously and safely twice. Flair also hit safely twice, fielded flashily.

But more absorbing than the game itself was the pre-game pitching of Keith Simon, 21-year-old right-hander from Long Beach, Cal., an Ensign in the Naval Air Corps who was discharged at Miami only a week ago. He worked out with Detroit at Lakeland at Scout Wish Egan's request, dropped into the Red Sox camp on the week-end at Hank Severeid's request.

He's a strong six-footer who was all-Southern California first baseman in high school in '42. He was a .405 hitter. He enlisted in '43, pitched and played the outfield for Iowa Pre-Flight. He won 13 games, lost 2 for a team that won 25 in a row. When not pitching he played the outfield with Dick Wakefield and Ned Harris. He batted .367. It was Wakefield who recommended him to Egan.

At Corpus Christi in '45 he won 19, lost 4, also played the outfield. He lost three 1-0 decisions to Johnny Sain of the Braves. "Once I pitched a two-hitter, Sain topped it with a one-hitter," He's a free agent, shopping around for the best offer. He's still wearing his Navy tans, but when he put on a Sox unie he had the batters marveling at his "stuff."

"Get him out of there, we can't hit him," the Sox beseeched boss Mike Ryba. His fast ball sinks and his curve snaps. He's an i-1 prospect. Whether the Sox sign him remains to be seen, but keep his name in mind (Keith Simon). You'll be hearing from him.

Burns Pilot In Fall River

FALL RIVER, March 11 (AP)—Irving G. (Jack) Burns of Arlington, former major and minor league first baseman, was named manager of the Fall River club of the New England League today by owner M. Joseph Madowsky.

Burns played first base for the St. Louis Browns from 1929 to 1935 and a season with the Detroit Tigers in 1936. He has since played with minor league teams and worked at the Fore River shipyard in Quincy.

Fishing Season Around Corner

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Signs of spring! One of the most sincere winter sports bulletins we received recently was this word from a lodge near Rangeley Lakes, Maine: "Skiing poor. Fishing season just around the corner." How true! Only yesterday we noticed a neighbor whipping his fly rod about his backyard, practicing casts in anticipation of the strikes he hops are coming and listen to this:

A check with the Massachusetts Fish and Game Association's office at 20 Spruce st. echoed an earlier announcemennt to the effect that next Saturday, Mar. 16, is the tentative date for the opening of the trout pools at the preserve in Norfolk. Most of the ice has vanished, while the heaviest stocking in years took place there during the past few days, with over 1000 pounds of fish being planted! So if the weather doesn't go topsy-turvy again this week, hundreds of MFGA members and guests will be treated to a preview of the trout season Saturday.

The official start of the Bay State season is only 35 days in the offing, and April 15 may see the largest number of anglers in action on record. Thousands of veterans have been eagerly awaiting this opportunity to wet their lines, for many haven't wielded a rod for years. Gas rationing prevented others from visiting remote spots, which will once again hum with the song of spinning reels.

The staff of the Mass. Division of Fisheries and Game has been working diligently on the problems of spring liberations. To insure equitable stockings, multiple factors must be considered, such as fishing pressure of waters, natural food productivity of ponds, water temperature, oxygen content, the control of predatory fish, and various other angles that concern the prosperity of game fish. Here is a task that interests innumerable anglers.

CLUB CHATTER: Scores of local sportsmen's clubs seem to be divided on the question of extending the trout season, many presenting arguments for and against the proposed extension . . . This writer welcomes all views on this subject, plus general news from the clubs.

Braves Mark Time For Philly Game

By BILL GRIMES

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 11—After playing five games in four days, the Braves were back out at Westside Park early this morning for a single workout . . . Mgr. Billy Southworth will take 25 players to Miami Beach tomorrow to play the Phillies . . . And, many of tomorrow's stay-at-homes will journey up to West Palm Beach Wednesday for a night game.

When Glen Scheffer, the Braves' new shortstop, entered organized ball, he belonged to the St. Louis Browns, who farmed him out to Beaver Falls . . . Connie Ryan uses a Lombardi model in all batting practice sessions . . . It is so heavy that it slows down his swing.

George "Shorty" Young is Mort Cooper's private trainer . . . They are great pals . . . Sam Cooper was out "shooting pool" Friday night and didn't get back to the hotel until almost midnight . . . So, Brother Mort wouldn't let him put on a uniform the next day.

Mrs. Max West and Mrs. Nanny Fernandez and little Bobby Fernandez will stop off at Salisbury, N. C., and visit with Mrs. Clyde Klutz until the Braves return home from their first western trip.

Umpire Bill Stewart still has an "egg" on his noggin, from a foul ball in the opening game here . . . Mrs. Connie Ryan leaves in a few days for New Orleans but will be in Boston for the opening of the National League . . . Her daughter, Charon, will accompany her north from the Crescent City . . . "Bucky" Corina of Medford, who was a clubhouse boy at Braves Field before he entered the Navy, is vacationing at Miami, but attends all of the Braves' home games.

The Phillies are a disgrace to the National League . . . They are wearing old patched and dirty uniforms and moreover they send a bunch of "Humpty-Dumpties" to play away from home.

Johnny McCarhy, the Braves' first sacker, is a radio man during the off season, in the Chicago police dept. . . . Apparently Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, is getting less sleep in Miami than he does in New York . . . Recently he was in the land of dreams but 30 minutes when Ford Frick called on him . . . but he dressed and spent the rest of the day with the boss of the National League at Miami Field observing his Giants in a double-header workout .

Catholic Title Court Roster Filled

NEWPORT, R. I., March 11 (AP)—With the acceptance of De La Salle Academy, the roster for the ninth annual Eastern States Catholic invitation basketball tournament to be held here March 28, 29 and 30, was completed today.

Schools previously accepting bids were La Salle Academy, defending champion, of New York city; Regis High of New York, St. Phillips High of Chicago, Fairfield Prep of Fairfield, Ct., St. Mary's High of Clarksburg, W. Va., La Salle Institute, Cumberland, Md., and La Salle High of Philadelphia.

Poor Fish

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Life will be one temptation after another for poor fish this season.

Close to 9,000,000 lures will be dangled under his nose in fresh waters from Maine to California, and from Florida to the great northwest, the Fish and Wildlife Service indicated today.

Seeking wartime recreation, 8,280,232 persons bought fishing licenses during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1945. This was an increase of 449,755 over the previous year.

Many Vets Enter NE Amateur Fights

Discharged servicemen are flocking into fight ranks, filling the entry lists for the New England championships at the Arena on March 19.

Winners of this program will advance into the nationals

In the 126-pound class, there'll be Roland Charest of Salem, now a freshman at Boston University under the GI Bill of Rights. Charest, 21 years of age, has had 33 months of active duty in the U. S. Navy. Since his discharge, he has been mixing boxing with studies in amateur shows in Lynn and North Attleboro

Rescues Girl from Quincy Quarry

Makes Plea—George Farnum, president of the New England Anti-Vivisection Society, speaks at Gardner Auditorium to legislative committee on legal affairs, urging the passage of House Bill 117, which would make vivisection of cats and dogs a crime. Near him is pile of more than 2500 letters, submitted by readers of American-Record-Advertiser, who support passage of the bill. (Story on Page 4)

Disappointed, But Game—Anticipating another spring-like day, Filipo Vetraino was out bright and early today with his hand-organ. And then came the snow . . . and Filipo fumed, but continued on his tour of the city, grinding out songs of spring despite the weather reveal.

Council Vote Prods Police

A resolution requesting Police Comr. Thomas F. Sullivan to take immediate steps toward clearing up a crime wave "raging in Boston," was passed by the City Council today after its sponsor, Councilor James S. Coffey of East Boston, accused Sullivan of lethargy and asserted even the police are acting as bookies.

Coffey said the police were overzealous in handing out parking violation tickets and raiding card games at sich places as the American Legion headquarters, in East Boston, and the South Boston Yacht Club. Meanwhile, he held, Boston was experiencing from five to eight robberies a night.

"The police commissioner is paying no attention to what is going on," Coffey charged. "He doesn't know his job, and some captains are taking too much for granted. There are bookies everywhere. There is a bookie at the State House. There is one at City Hall. There is one in every police station. Policemen act as bookies. They play cards, checkers and dominoes for money at the stations."

Curley Vetoes Retirement Bills

Mayor Curley today vetoed two city council orders calling for liberalization of retirement allowances for municipal employes.

He termed unfair an order which would enable retirement at $1666 a year, after 25 years, of firemen who do not contribute to the retirement fund. Curley pointed out firemen who do contribute to the fund receive only $1250 annually if they retire after 25 years.

The mayor also vetoed an order for increasing retirement allowances in cases of accidental disability or death.
